County Grange Backs Parking Meters

INSTALLATION OF NINE-MONTH TRIAL OKAYED

Endorsement of 1,100 County Farmers to Be Presented in Few Days, Deputy Says.

FOLLOWS INQUIRY HERE

Asserts Meters Would Create More Parking Space and Be Help to Farmers.

The installation of parking meters in downtown Mansfield today had the endorsement of 1,100 Richland county farmers.

The endorsement, in the form of a resolution, will be presented to city council within the next few days by Pomona Grange, representing the 15 chapters in the county, A. A. Mellick, county deputy, and chairman of a committee which conferred with Mayor Claude M. Hunter yesterday, said.

Three On Committee.

Other members of the committee, which were selected to report their findings are Harry Miller and H. H. Maxwell.

Mellick said that the committee had talked to the mayor and studied reports filed with city council from various sources and after thorough investigation had concluded that they would approve the installation of the meters on a nine-month trial basis.

He added that the committees' decision already had been reported to C. C. Mellick, master of the Pomona Grange, and that Mayor Hunter would be given a verbal report probably today.

Would Create More Space.

A. A. Mellick said the committee felt the installation of parking meters in the downtown district would tend to create more available parking space which would prove an asset rather than a detriment to the farmer coming to Mansfield to shop.

Meanwhile Third Ward Councilman George Kyle, one of the strongest opponents to the metered pla nof parking during the two years it has been under consideration by a special council committee, said he would vote for the meters only if they were given a nine-month trial, installed on one side of the street.

The parking meters bill will come before council for a second reading at the regular session Feb. 7.

BULLETIN

A 20-year-old youth was held in the county jail today after he allegedly shot at his step-mother at her home near Bellville last night and escaped in his father's automobile.

Arrested at his farm home near Amity, Knox county, about noon today, the youth was returned to Mansfield by Sheriff E. P. Long and Deputy Glenn Freeman.

Sheriff Long said the youth fired a .22 caliber revolver through a window at his step-mother about 9 p. m. yesterday and then fled in the automobile. The woman was not wounded.

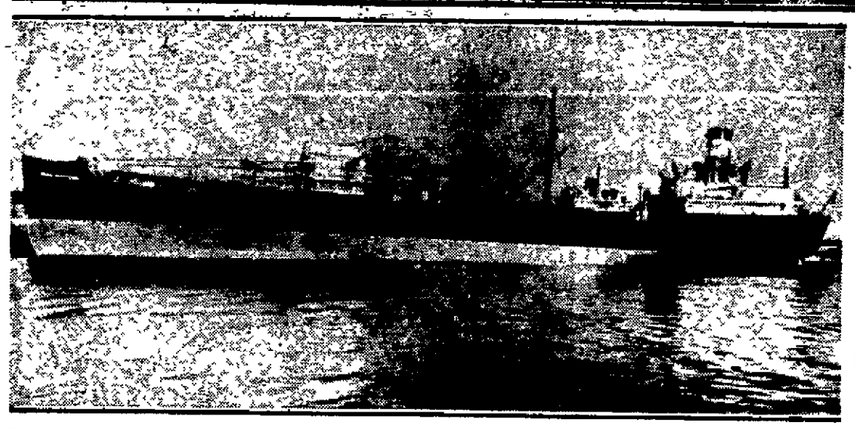
WASHINGTON — (UP) —Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R., N. J.) today introduced in the house a resolution calling for an investigation of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins to determine whether she should be impeached.

The resolution asked that the house judiciary committee, acting as a whole or by subcommittee, investigate the official conduct of the nation's first woman cabinet member.

NAMED BY BRICKER

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Governor Bricker disclosed today that he has placed Francis G. Lauffer, Columbus, former newspaperman and publicity agent with Republican state headquarters, in temporary charge of the state bureau of aeronautics pending determination of the bureau's status. Lauffer's salary will be $3,000 a year.

Plane Crash Survivors, Heroic Captain and Rescue Ship



Pictured above are seven of the 10 survivors of the ill-fated British flying boat, Cavalier, which crashed and sank at sea, the hero of their rescue and the ship that brought them to New York. Picture at the top shows the seven survivors as they reached New York. Seated (left to right) are Mrs. George Ingham, Hamilton, Bermuda; Mrs. Edna Watson, Paget, Bermuda, and Charles Talbot, Brookline, Mass., all passengers. Standing are four members of the crew (left to right) Capt. M. R. Alderson, pilot; Capt. Neil Richardson, first officer; David Williams, steward, and Patrick Chapman, radio officer. Lower left shows modest Capt. Frank Spurr of the tanker Esso Baytown, who directed the rescue work and dismissed his part in the drama briefly. Lower right is the Baytown.

FOOD INSTITUTE SESSIONS OPEN

400 Women Brave Inclement Weather to Learn Latest in Kitchen Art.

The tantalizing aroma of roast chicken, noodle dressing and broiled onions filled the Ohio theater this morning when the Gasco Food Institute opened there at 9:30. It was the first day of a three-day session and drew more than 400 women despite the inclement weather.

The stage presented a very attractive kitchen setting in ivory and white, which was the work shop for Miss Louise McFarland, Gasco food expert, who is directing the institute, and her assistant, Miss Pauline Schofield, who is in charge of the Mansfield Gasco kitchens.

Topping today's menu and demonstrations was a roast chicken, stuffed with a noodle dressing and garnished with prunes which had been pitted and stuffed with marshmallows and toasted.

Other recipes were for oven baked beets, "streamline" bread, an attractive cottage cheese rose salad, a frozen corn salad, a vegetable salad bowl, broiled liver, broiled onion rings, a fruit salad and tutti-fruitti ice cream.

An interesting feature of tomorrow's program will be the cooking of three meals, breakfast, lunch and dinner, against time, with someone holding a stop watch on the cook. Apple griddle cakes, a Dutch chop suey and a Harlequin salad are among the dishes to be demonstrated.

The institute continues through Wednesday and Thursday with interesting features each day.

Mystery Veils Cause Of Seaplane's Plunge

Pilot Unable to Explain Why Motors 'Died'; Songs of 10 Survivors Guided Rescuers to Scene of Mishap In Which 3 Died.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Why the luxurious British airliner Cavalier crashed at sea with the loss of three lives remained a mystery today as ten survivors described how they sang and shouted to keep their courage alive until their rescue.

They told the story of an 11-hour ordeal spent clinging to life belts in the Atlantic wastes—a chronicle of gallantry with both comic and tragic overtones—after receiving a hero's welcome on their arrival late yesterday.

The ice-crusted tanker Esso Baytown, which saved them from death Saturday night after the world had all but given them up for dead, was surrounded by whistling tugs as it plowed up the choppy channel.

Airplanes dipped in salute in the frosty sky, and a crowd of 2,000 cheering persons waited at the pier.

Of the five men and five women survivors only the widows of two of the victims—Mrs. Donald Miller of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. John Gordon Noakes of New York—showed evidence of strain. Mrs. Noakes fainted. Weeping, she was taken to a private hospital. The others refused medical treatment.

The survivors' jubilation on their arrival was reflected in the faces of the members of the Baytown's crew who rowed a lifeboat to their aid after they heard cries in the night.

"We were without stars, moon or sextant—in complete darkness," said Stanley Taylor, a seaman who stood in the lifeboat's bow.

"And then the whole crowd of them started singing. We listened and the sound guided us to the spot."

First Mate Olaf Anderson said:

"I heard a woman's voice say 'Thank God' as we came up to them. Then they started to sing again. I was too busy to notice what it was they were singing. Something religious. I don't know the name."

Oddly, none of the fortunate ten could recall what they sang.

Pretty Mrs. George Ingham of Hamilton, Bermuda, said the survivors had agreed to hold a reunion Saturday on the liner Monarch of Bermuda which will carry them to Bermuda, their destination when the accident occurred.

Reports that icing conditions caused as the huge 19-ton plane flew through squalls were responsible for its four motors quitting were denied by First Officer Neil Richardson.

"The Cavalier had carburetor-heating devices," he declared. "It's

DOCTOR SAVES 5 FROM GAS DEATH

Story of How He Discovered Family Overcome by Fumes Revealed in Loudonville.

LOUDONVILLE—The story of how the timely arrival of a doctor who had been summoned for another reason saved a Loudonville family of five from death by asphyxiation Sunday afternoon, was revealed today.

Members of the family—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Young and their sons, Ralph, 21; Theodore, 16, and Earl, 12—were recovering today from the effects of gas which filled their home and left them unconscious.

Answering a call to treat Mrs. Young who had complained of illness, Dr. Ralph Paisley of Loudonville found members of the family in different parts of the house where they had fallen when overcome by the gas from a defective kitchen stove.

Young, a restaurant operator, was the first victim of the escaping gas. He was overcome in the kitchen where he had gone for a towel to place on Mrs. Young's head. Also found unconscious in the kitchen was one of the sons who had gone on another errand for his mother.

Mrs. Young was on a couch in the living room where she had been resting, and the other two sons were nearby.

Dr. Paisley opened doors and windows in the home and administered first aid, all members of the family soon regaining consciousness.

The family lives over a restaurant on East Main street which Young operates.

CHIEF SILENT BUT TRAFFIC TAGS INCREASE

Bates Has 'No Comment' on Progress of Campaign; 29 Pay Fines in 2 Days.

4TH TOTAL FOR DECEMBER

Nist to Make Own Check on 'Tightening Up' Ordered at Meeting Saturday.

Although Chief Meade K. Bates had "no comment" this morning on the progress of the police department's "tightened up" law enforcement campaign, at least one segment of it had begun to produce some results.

Since last Saturday, 29 persons have paid $1 fines for traffic law violations, records at the station showed today. Five paid fines Saturday, and the total from Monday morning to Tuesday noon was 24.

118 Pay In December.

Thus, in slightly more than two days, one-fourth as many traffic fines were paid as in the entire month of December (when 118 violators paid up) and half as many as for all of November, when only 55 motorists appeared at the traffic bureau with dollar bills in their hands.

The number of tags issued may have been much higher than 29, for violators are given until Wednesday to make the payment.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nish, who said he had no actual figures on what had been accomplished in the enforcement campaign—which he ordered made last Saturday after a conference with Bates—said he would check up on the situation, perhaps this afternoon.

Entire Force Meets.

All members of the force met at the station last night to learn what the campaign would call for.

It was learned from reliable sources that there had been little discussion concerning the city's traffic problems. The meeting, it was reported, was given over to the discussion of the operation of the two-way radio units which are expected to be installed in the department's four cruisers upon the approval by the Federal Communications Commission.

From Bates, however, there was no information forthcoming on the law enforcement campaign. He was busy fitting sights on some guns, he said.

U. S. Demands New Assurances From Nazis On Decrees

BERLIN—(AP)—The United States embassy, in a note to the German foreign office, has requested assurances from the Nazi government that United States citizens will be exempt from a decree ousting Jewish dentists, veterinarians and druggists from their professions.

The note was delivered last night.

The decree promulgated Jan. 17 cancelled licenses of Jews in the three professions, effective Jan. 31. One exception was made, that Jewish dentists could to a limited extent treat Jewish patients only.

No estimate was available immediately of the number of Americans affected.

Protests and requests for interpretation of various anti-Semitic decrees have been made repeatedly by the United States embassy and consulate in behalf of American Jews since November when United States property became involved in the outbursts following the slaying of Ernst Vom Rath in Paris.

CUT BY $73,280

State Agricultural Department Payroll Minus 50 Employes.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Dismissal of more than 50 employes of the state department of agriculture has brought a net reduction of $73,280 in the department's payroll, Agriculture Director John T. Brown announced today.

Gross reduction in payroll was $92,920 but $19,640 of this was restored by addition of new employes, it was explained.

FRANCO'S TROOPS PUSHING DOWN ON CITY IN 3 LINES

Artillery, Bombers Unleash Attack On Capital As Government Speeds Evacuation; Stubborn Loyalists Determined To Fight To Last.

(By Associated Press)

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier)—Spanish Insurgent forces today announced the encirclement of the town of Gava, only seven miles from Barcelona proper, and said the Spanish government's capital was under the direct fire of their artillery.

While Generalissimo Franco's column driving along the coast from the southwest bore down on its objective and Insurgent inland forces converged on the city from the west, Barcelona was being evacuated by government ministries and the civilian population.

The government armies, however, remained before the city, defending it to the last.

To reach Gava the Insurgent forces surged up the Mediterranean coast from the conquered port of Tarragona through numerous towns dotting the shore. Gava is the site of an American Radiator company factory taken over by the Spanish government early in the war.

Insurgent bombers flying ahead of the land forces raided Barcelona repeatedly in a campaign evidently designed to break resistance of the government troops.

Bombed Six Times.

Before noon today the city had been bombed six times.

Air raiders flew above the capital while anti-aircraft batteries thundered almost without ceasing.

A hail of bombs, particularly on the thickly populated lower quarter of Barcelona around the port, crumbled entire blocks of buildings and took many victims, but the capital remained calm, dispatches said.

Earlier today border dispatches said the insurgents' coastal column had been halted about 12 miles from Barcelona while that approaching from the west still was 10 miles from the capital.

The southern army, following the highway up the coast, was said to have been brought virtually to a standstill in the vicinity of Castelldefels by defiant militiamen who clung to positions in the Garraf mountains overlooking the Mediterranean.

But the left wing of this column circled these mountain nests and laid siege to the little village of San Boy, nine and a half miles southwest of Barcelona. San Boy lies on a hill above the Llobregat river, dominating the coastal highway and the highway from the west.

Battle at Martorell.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's army approaching from the west was reported fighting its way into the highway town of Martorell, 10 miles from Barcelona, where government forces were making a determined stand.

Reports that the town had fallen were denied by government bulletins, although its position was admitted to be critical.

Government officials in Barcelona were counting on their forces to hold off the insurgents until the capital's militia could be organized under the new martial law orders issued yesterday.

The evacuation of non combatants and foreigners was proceeding under constant danger of the heavy bombardment to which the city has been subjected during the past few days.

The United States cruiser Omaha was en route from Villa-Franche, France, to Catalonia to take American citizens out of the war zone. About 30 Americans from the Barcelona area were expected to board the Omaha, while an estimated 120 others were planning to stay.

The Barcelona cabinet declared it would remain in the city, but it was reported at the French border that ministerial archives and provincial courts already had been transferred northward closer to the frontier.

BARCELONA: Men, Women Flock To Front To Dig Trenches

(By International News Service)

BARCELONA—Answering the call of the beleaguered Spanish government, thousands of men and women poured out of Barcelona toward the battle-front today to aid in defending the city against the tightening Insurgent grip.

Officials claimed the government's troops, despite the loss of Martorell, key to the inner defense line only 15 miles away, were resisting the Insurgents "heroically," inflicting heavy losses on the foe, and had even improved the government's positions at certain points.

But as Barcelona's struggle for its life began in grim earnest, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's troops relentlessly tightened their ring of steel around the provisional capital.

According to reports from the front, Martorell fell to the Insurgents following hours of bombardments which killed 35 inhabitants of the vital cross-roads town and wounded 115.

Meanwhile, the task of transforming Barcelona from a city of beauty to a powerful fortress went forward. Old men and wounded veterans, not fit for action at the front, labored beside women volunteers to dig ditches and throw up breastworks against the moment when Franco's forces hurl themselves against Barcelona itself.

LONDON: Jitters Grip Europe As Capture of Barcelona Looms

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Jitters reminiscent of those which gripped Europe before the Munich four-power "peace" agreement attacked the old world again today and were felt even as far afield as India. In London the stock markets opened lifelessly. There was no evidence, however, of sustained selling. Opening of the Bombay market was delayed owing to nervousness following advices from Europe.

Dutch currency was under sustained pressure on the London foreign exchange market as a result of new rumors regarding German military intentions in the Netherlands.

Observers in the British capital viewed the general trend gloomily, basing their fears on these points:

1. The imminent fall of Barcelona.

2. Possibility that France may be stampeded into a major move of intervention in Spain's civil war such as occupation of the island of Minorca, or reopening of the Pyrenees border.

3. Berlin reports (officially denied) that spring maneuvers may begin Feb. 15.

4. Rumors regarding calling up of Italian reservists (also officially denied).

5. Continued underground rumors of alleged internal unrest in Germany.

Symptomatic of the spreading jitters were a rumor on the Lausanne stock exchange that Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering of Germany had been assassinated, and a rumor on the London stock exchange that 100,000 German troops had arrived in Italy—either to assist a Moroccan campaign against France or proceed to aid the Insurgents in Spain.

Both of these rumors were denied in Berlin.

Assembly Drops Move to Cut Cities' Sales Tax Share

REDUCTION OF TWO MILLIONS SIDETRACKED

Capital Hears Leaders Ready to Give Local Governments Share of $12,000,000.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Administration leaders in the Ohio legislature have virtually given up hope, it was learned today, of cutting the share of sales tax revenues distributed to local governments.

Usually reliable sources indicated the legislative leaders expect to allocate between $12,000,000 and $13,000,000 to counties, municipalities and townships, instead of $10,000,000 as originally planned.

Local governments received more than $12,000,000 in 1938 from this source but, in line with Gov. John W. Bricker's economy program, the legislative leadership hoped to require local sub-divisions to assume a share of the expense reduction.

Abolishes Earmarking.

The senate expected to receive today a bill abolishing the earmarking features of the present sales tax law, substituting a provision allocating a fixed sum to local governments and directing the remainder to the general fund.

Local governments now receive 40 per cent and the school foundation program 60 per cent of sales tax revenue after deduction of relief appropriations and administrative expense.

The new bill will fix $10,000,000 as the local government's share but one leader said this "was just a starting figure and we'll have to raise it."

Large municipalities especially protested the proposed cut, contending that they already faced financial difficulties in handing poor relief and normal operations of government.

Other bills based on Gov. Bricker's program to end earmarking were drafted for senate introduction. These would affect the use tax, now allocated to schools, and the liquor gasoline tax and store profits, used for old age pensions.

Senate leaders had ready for introduction also a bill permitting municipalities to use revenues for motor vehicle license fees for traffic control and similar expenses, a measure designed to ease the strain on cities' general funds and release local money for poor relief.

Support 'Stop-Gap.'

The house welfare committee, having beaten attempts to increase the $5,000,000 appropriation and to eliminate local dollar-for-dollar matching requirements, prepared to recommend the "stop-gap" relief bill aimed at providing for large cities' immediate needs.

Two bills to re-organize the state unemployment compensation system, removing it from control of the present Democratic commission, were ready for introduction in the house.

Both would place the system under a director. One of the two measures would also provide a five-member advisory board but administration leaders indicated this proposal probably would be shelved.

Quizzes Salesman About Cleveland's 12 Torso Slayings

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Detective Peter Merylo took into custody today a middle aged salesman for questioning concerning Cleveland's 12 baffling "torso slayings." Merylo has spent the last four years seeking solution of the unsolved slayings.

The man, claimed to be a former New York doctor who was barred from practice and became a salesman of medical supplies, Merylo said.

Detective Lieut. Alfred Jones said the man "boasted to acquaintances that he had a place here to dissect bodies."

"He admitted to us that he told friends he had dissected bodies," the lieutenant said, "but claimed it was nothing but lies. We will question him further."

Jones said Merylo found the man in a rooming house on the city's near east side, where he had lived for 15 years.

"There was an old human skull in his room," said Jones, "but that may not be significant."

ILLNESS FATAL

George W. Stevens, 73, Dies At Home Near Butler.

BUTLER—George W. Stevens, 73, died at his home four miles east of Butler today after a lingering illness. Surviving are his wife, Isabell; three sons, Archie, Clarence and Raymond at home; two daughters, Mrs. Gladys McConkie of Bellville and Mrs. Mary Stull of Butler, and a brother, Val of Butler.

Funeral services will be held at the Bunker Hill church at 2 p. m. Thursday with Rev. Lena Jennings officiating. Burial will be in the Bunker Hill cemetery.

Hopkins Oked, Takes 'Peacemaker' Role

Up and Down THE STREET

The Simpson Junior high school bandman who stepped in the wrong direction during a maneuver at a football game at Stadium field last fall is still getting publicity. Carrying a Mansfield dateline, the Braddock, Pa., Free Press used this story recently: "A junior high school band member did a 'Corrigan' at a football game, when he marched one way while the rest of the band marched the other. The 'wrong way' marcher evidently became more interested in his music than in the formation the band was forming, the leader said."

J. G. (Westinghouse) Baird, who practically commutes between Mansfield, New York and Hollywood by plane, today held a distinction that probably no other Mansfielder possesses. He was presented with a small metal plaque on which his name is engraved listing him as a member of the 100,000-Mile club of the United Air Lines. The plaques are issued to passengers who have flown 100,000 miles on the United lines.

A sketch of James Richardson, 19 Penn avenue, student at Ohio State university, appeared in Sunday's Columbus Dispatch in the cartoon feature, "Life in Campus Fraternity and Sorority Houses." Sunday's drawing was on Delta Upsilon fraternity of which Richardson is a member. Richardson is chaplain of the house. Also in the cartoon was James Langhurst, of Willard, individual high scorer last fall in the Big Ten football race.

A memento from out of the past was found in a mailbox at the Union station last Friday. It was an old key for the Vonhof hotel, one of the early Mansfield hostelries which went down under the march of progress early in this decade. The Vonhof was located on North Main street on the site now occupied by the Warner building. Postmaster Herman E. Homberger said the key probably had been dropped into the box by someone who was passing through the city and who didn't know that the hotel was no more.

600 AT FUNERAL

Mrs. Daley Buried Today at Impressive Service.

More than 600 persons attended funeral services at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. today for Mrs. Philomena Cormina Daley, wife of Peter Daley, who died last Friday. It was one of the largest Italian funerals in Mansfield for years.

Pallbearers were seven men for whom Mrs. Daley, a leader in Italian-American activities in Mansfield, had been godmother. They were Thomas, Joseph and Anthony Santore, Anthony Sqrow, Samuel Glorioso, Frank Brucato and Joseph Amato.

More than 250 floral pieces filled the Daley home at 141 West Sixth street during the time her body was there. An unusual tribute was an eight-foot cross of white carnations, from her grandchildren.

Rt. Rev. R. C. Goebel was celebrant at solemn requiem mass at the church. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, and six white doves were released during the committal service there.

DIES AT WILLARD

Charles Schwab, 83, Stricken At Home of Daughter.

WILLARD — Charles Schwab, 83, a native of Attica, died here last night at the home of a daughter Mrs. Wade Schreckengost. He had been in poor health for the past two years as the result of a fall in which he fractured his hip.

Surviving are two sons, Fred and Harvey both of Willard; three daughters, Mrs. Nellie Stout of Galion, Miss Emma Schwab of Detroit and Mrs. Schreckengost, and two grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Secor funeral home pending funeral arrangements.

SIGNAL SYSTEM ADDS NEW LINK

Work of 'Cutting Over' $7,000 Improvement in Police, Fire Circuits Under Way.

"Cut-over" of a new $7,000 improvement in the fire and police signal system, major undertaking in the 1938 construction program had been started today, City Electrician Ernest Adams disclosed.

The new link in the system includes 2,500 feet of new underground conduit, 4,400 feet of new lead-sheathed signal cable, five miles of new aerial circuits, three new police call boxes and two new fire alarm boxes.

Adams said the cut-over of the new equipment would also include the revamping of the entire signal circuits in the north end, placing several overhead lines underground. The job is expected to take about two weeks.

The projects are a continuation of an extensive underground improvements by which Adams hopes to ultimately have the entire signal system beneath the streets.

The program was financed through a $5,000 bond issue authorized by council early last year. Labor was provided by WPA.

Adams said that in addition to those improvements, more than two miles of aerial cable and wires were removed from poles in the mercantile district and placed underground.

He also announced plans for installation of a new and more efficient fire alarm system at the Westinghouse plant to be connected with the city system the next few weeks.

The new set-up calls for the installation of five stations at the plant, to be tied into Central fire station, and which will designate the building from which the alarm was sent.

There is now only one alarm box at the plant.

KILLS BURGLAR

Cleveland Bartender Shoots as Intruder Flees Through Window.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — George Martinec, bartender, shot and killed a burglar today, Patrolman Charles Rutkowski said, as the intruder fled through a window of a tavern.

Cleveland Youth Convicted In Killing of Father.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Steve Turocy, jr., 19, who readily admitted shooting his 46-year-old father to death, today faced one to 20 years in the state reformatory.

Turock, his mother, Rose, and others of the eight children testified that the elder Turocy had not worked to support the family in 15 years, that he was continually intoxicated, and that he beat Mrs. Torocy and the children.

DIES AT AGE 65

Eugene Glessner Was Retired Ashland Farmer.

ASHLAND — Eugene Glessner, 65, retired farmer, died last evening at his home, 308 East State street, after an illness of five years with heart trouble.

He was born Jan. 8, 1874, in Ashland county. He retired from farming about nine years ago. He was married to Blanch Romand on June 3, 1899.

He was a member of Camp Charles Miller, United Spanish War Veterans, having served as a sergeant in Co. C., 88th O. V. I.

He is survived by his wife, a sister, Mrs. Frank Johnson of Ashland; a brother, Purl Glessner Painesville; and a half-brother, Ray of Ashland.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Shaw Funeral home with the Rev. Frank Brown, pastor of the Christian church, officiating, assisted by Rev. B. F. Martin of the Congregational church. Spanish War veterans will conduct their ritual at the Ashland cemetery.

SEARCH FOR 3 ADRIFT ON ICE

Rescuers Hunt Fishermen Drifting On Mile-Square Floe.

DETROIT—(U.P.)—Rescuers in a small gasoline launch pushed through the ice-filled north channel of Lake Huron today in search for three fishermen adrift on a mile square floe of thin ice.

The three adrift are Philip Goetz, 60, his son, Russell, 30, and Willard Dyer, 47, all veteran commercial fishermen. They were attending their nets off the north shore of Drummond Island yesterday with 27 other fishermen when a portion of ice split from the main body. They were unable to bridge the gap soon enough to reach safety.

COURT RECEIPTS UP $1,100 IN '38

Increase in Number of Estates Administered Helps Boost Probate Income.

With the number of estates administered in Richland county probate court increasing to 477 last year from 410 in the preceding year, income of the office showed a $1,167 gain, according to the annual report released by Judge C. J. Anderson today.

Receipts from all sources last year totaled $10,452 as compared with $9,285 in 1937. The increase in administration of estates was the principal cause for the increase, Judge Anderson said.

The number of insanity cases handled by the court in 1938 increased to 41 from 32 during the preceding year. Last year, 22 men and 17 women were ordered committed to the state hospital at Toledo, the report shows.

Feeble minded and epileptic cases declined last year with only one case of each handled by the court. In 1937, five epileptic patients were ordered to the state hospital at Gallipolis, and three feeble-minded persons were committed to the hospital in Columbus.

There was little change in the number of reform school commitments ordered by the court. Six boys and girls were sent to industrial schools last year and seven in 1937.

Five boys and one girl were sentenced by Judge Anderson in 1938 and four boys and three girls in 1937.

Eighteen more wills were probated last year than in 1937, the report showing 171 last year and 153 in the preceding year.

The report shows a drop of 64 in the number of marriage licenses issued by the court. Licenses were issued to 384 couples during the year as compared with 448 in 1937.

CONFIRMED AS SECRETARY BY 58 TO 27 VOTE

Expect New Cabinet Officer to Become New Deal's Ace Trouble Shooter.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, confirmed in his new cabinet post despite bolting senate Democrats, appeared today to be the potential New Deal peacemaker with business if there is to be a reconciliation.

Hopkins was confirmed yesterday by a vote of 58 to 27. He was expected to become the New Deal trouble shooter primarily concerned with improving relations between the administration and public utility and other industrial elements.

Some observers believe Hopkins may be the New Deal choice to succeed Mr. Roosevelt in 1940 if the president is not a third term candidate.

See Wider Split.

Hopkins was confirmed after blistering debate which demonstrated that any effort to put him in the line of New Deal presidential succession probably would split the Democratic party still further. Five Democrats voted against his confirmation yesterday: George, Ga.; Gerry, R. I.; Holt, W. Va.; King, Utah, and Van Nuys, Ind. Three others, all sharply opposed to Hopkins because of the conduct of the WPA during the 1938 campaign excused themselves from voting: Bailey, N. C.; Glass, Va., and Tydings, Md.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., who refused to vote at all, but did not seek excuse, explained it this way:

"I didn't want to give an affirmative vote because I disagreed with some of the things he had done. Yet I recognized the right of the president to select his cabinet and I did not want to obstruct that right."

Sen. Edward R. Burke, (D., Neb.) who did not vote, said:

"I am satisfied that Mr. Hopkins is going to make a good secretary of commerce and I feel that the president should be given great latitude in choosing his cabinet."

Both Sen. Henrik Shipstead, (F.-L., Minn.) and Sen. Hiram W. Johnson (R., Cal.), who were part of the New Deal army in 1932, voted against Hopkins' nomination.

DIES IN DETROIT

William G. Weil, 58, Was Born in Mansfield.

William G. Weil, 58, a native of Mansfield, died at his home in Detroit Monday night. He had been in failing health for a number of years.

Mr. Weil, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Weil, 182 West Fourth street, was a musician and widely-known in theatrical circles. A piano player, Mr. Weil traveled many years over the vaudeville circuits. He also was pianist at the old Orpheum theater for many years and left the city 35 years ago.

Besides his parents, the survivors include his wife, Maude; a son, Robert of Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. Daniel Whitehead of Detroit and Mrs. Gus Peans of Cincinnati, and a brother, J. Menan of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held in Grand Rapids, Mich., Thursday. Burial will also be made there.

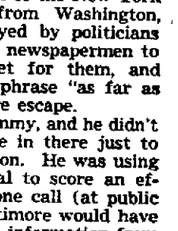
Ickes Makes Himself Look Pretty Silly Saying Press Bows to Big Advertisers



—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—This debate about the influence of advertisers on the press gets silly when anyone alleges, as Harold Ickes did, that the papers smothered "a very sensational finding resulting from a study of the effects of cigaret smoking."

Everybody knows and nobody denies that smoking is a harmful and enslaving habit. The New Year cartoon in which the man attempts to swear off and is gently mocked for the futility of his resolution is one of the old standard bromides of the newspaper business.

I remember reading a piece a few years ago in which it was reported that scientific tests showed that the smoking of just one cigaret caused a measurable impairment of the circulation, which was established by recording the temperature of the fingertips before and after.

Moreover, although the manufacturers of several brands of menthol cigarets have spent large advertising appropriations, this piece went on to say that the cooling of the fingertips, indicating constriction of the blood vessels, was slightly more marked after the human guinea pig smoked one of those than after the experiment with the other type. That was printed as routine news.

* * *

I wrote a column once on the economic virtue of our vices, speculating on the unemployment and distress that would be caused by complete prevention of the use of tobacco.

It made print in the routine way and didn't cause a ripple on the advertising side, although it led off with the truth that smoking is, by scientific opinion and common experience, unhygienic and a nuisance.

I also wrote a layman's essay on the malady known as hangover, its cause and cure, which drew no protest from the agencies that handle the great grog accounts, but did bring some requests for permission to reprint in wall motto form for framing over bars.

And I have at hand now a copy of Scribner's containing a story by J. C. (Sudden Death) Furnas on the difficulty of swearing off smoking. The story is No. 3 in the book and breaks over to Page 56, five pages away from an ad for cigarets.

* * *

Also, within the last week or two, there has been a correspondence in the Vox Pop of one of our New York papers—I don't recall which one—in which non-smokers complain of the fumes blown at them in restaurants and other public places and demand their rights.

I haven't the files, but I will risk saying that all this copy ran in editions containing cigaret advertisements, or, in the case of the hangover story, liquor ads, and that nobody in the advertisement end of either industry called up and tried to put in the box-fix despite Ickes' insinuation.

* * *

I notice Ickes said the report of "a very sensational finding" on the effect of cigaret smoking did not appear in any newspaper "as far as I know," and would nail him there with the observation that this is a variation of "it is believed" and "it is stated by an authoritative source," which Mrs. Roosevelt recently described as "wonderful ways of sliding out."

You bet your life they are "wonderful ways of sliding out," but, as Arthur Krock of the New York Times writes from Washington, they are employed by politicians when they want newspapermen to carry the target for them, and Ickes used the phrase "as far as I know" as a fire escape.

Ickes is no dummy, and he didn't drop that phrase in there just to make conversation. He was using doubtful material to score an effect when a phone call (at public expense) to Baltimore would have brought him the information from the author of this "very sensational finding" that it didn't concern cigarets specifically, but smoking generally, and that it wasn't suppressed but was published so widely that he got back clippings "by the pailfuls."

* * *

Ickes has been walking around with a pebble in his shoe for more than 30 years, because, in Chicago that long ago, a chief of police killed a poor Polish immigrant named Anton Averbuch, who called at the chief's house, and was shot for an assassin.

I remember it well, because my old man, who was a star reporter and worked the story, would come home at night growling about the dirty outrage of it all, insisting that the cops planted stuff afterward to show that Averbuch was an anarchist.

He wanted to expose it all, but after all, he wasn't the boss, and they had libel laws even then. And, anyway, it wasn't a publisher who killed the man, but the chief of police.

Well, such things have happened in this country, but Ickes is no more tenacious about that than others are about the killing of 12 army pilots flying the mail on an assignment which some Americans will always regard as political, no military, duty.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The scene is a Hollywood fight stadium, and Al Romero, the pug, is climbing into the ring when "Hi 'ya, Al!" booms from a group of movie people.

Romero looks around, grins, yells, "Hi 'ya, Meservey!"

And the movie gang looks at Meservey—whom they know as Robert Preston—and they all say, "You know Romero?"

"Sure," says Meservey. "He's one of the gang. . . ."

This Meservey now—this Bob Preston as you'll know him if you don't already — is the kid of 20 who is carrying Hollywood's biggest platinum spoon in his mouth. And the funny thing is, he knows it. And he keeps knocking on wood.

This is what has happened to him, since his "discovery" in the Pasadena Community Playhouse half a year ago: A 2,000-foot test—the average testee is lucky to get 500 feet; a strong role in "King of Alcatraz;" leading roles in "Illegal Traffic" and "Disbarred;" a role in DeMille's "Union Pacific" that is better, in sympathy, than Hero Joel McCrea's; next assignment: one of three leads in "Beau Geste," with Gary Cooper and Ray Milland.

Meet the kid, then. He's a big lug, 6 feet one inch, weighs about 180. He's got the vitality, the look in his eye, that snaps into a camera lens and says Look Here. He's not handsome—not with that nose—but he's plenty clean-cut. And he's got a deep and resonant voice to match plus a regular-guy way.

* * *

It's enough, what has happened to him, to have turned an older man's head. Bob Preston calls it all "luck."

He was born — without even a silver spoon on his tongue — in Newton Highlands, Mass., came to Los Angeles when he was two years old. He lived on the east side, went to Lincoln high, took part in school plays and fights with about equal relish.

When he knew he wanted to be an actor, he joined up with Tyrone Power's mother's Shakespearean little theater, played all the parts, including Julius Caesar when he was 15.

When drama failed him, he got a job at Santa Anita race track, cleaning the stands mornings, parking cars afternoons. (Remembers guiding Clark Gable to parking space — "there's a right guy!") Nights he tried out for Pasadena Playhouse. Worked there in old man parts, mostly, for two years. Then the movies. . . .

"And what I can't get over is how everybody seems to take me under wing. . . . Harold Hurley, the producer, giving me that long test, with Robert Florey to direct it. . . . Lloyd Nolan, telling people about me, showing me how to pitch my voice for pictures when I was talking like the Red Shadow . . . Carol Naish . . . Barbara Stanwyck, in this picture, telling me how to cheat the camera a little — so I'll take part of the screen from HER! And DeMille. He tells me it's the best part he's given anybody in years, and if I'm nervous he'll kill me. But then he starts me with my big scene—in which I've got to be nervous! Why, everybody acts like my own mother might, taking care of me."

LUMBERMENS GIRLS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Miss Louise Wolfe Named to Presidency of Organization at Dinner Meeting at Schwarz's Tavern Last Night.

MISS LOUISE WOLFE was elected president of the Lumbermens Girls' club yesterday evening when 46 members of that group met for dinner at Schwarz's Tavern on the Lexington avenue road.

Miss Ruth Paessler was chosen as vice-president to assist Miss Wolfe during the coming year. Miss Jane Bruce will serve as the club's new secretary, and Miss Miriam Dye is the newly elected treasurer.

The group played Chinese checkers during yesterday evening's meeting. The next regular session of the club will be held early in March. The exact date and place to be announced later.

There were two committees in charge of arrangements for last night's affair. Miss Edythe Benson was chairman of the hospitality committee, with the Misses Marguerite Koerper and Ruth Paessler assisting her. Miss Catherine Nerby was in charge of the program, with the Misses Ramona Frederick and Alice Winans serving on her committee.

Miss Hecht Reads Comments From Friend In Pacific

Miss Marie Hecht, who presented the program last night at a meeting of the Little Flower Study club at the home of Mrs. T. J McDermott, Park avenue west, read a letter from a former Mansfielder. Miss Hecht's letter was from Sister Mary Rachael who was Miss Agnes L. Jackson.

Sister Mary Rachael received her training at Mary Knoll convent, and went from there as a missionary to Japan. Later she was transferred to the Philippines, and it was from there that she wrote the letter read by Miss Hecht.

In the communication she told of the people, the climate, the hospital work and the training school which has been started at the hospital.

Following the program, luncheon was served buffet style from a table decorated with white roses. The next meeting will be Feb. 13 with Mrs. J. F. Ehalt, Brinkerhoff avenue.

Tent Members To Have Dinner At Hall Next Month

Plans for a covered-dish dinner to be held on Feb. 27, were made yesterday evening by members of Mary B. Mitchell Tent No. 40 when they met in Memorial hall. The dinner, which is being given for members of the organization and their families, will be in honor of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln.

Twenty-eight members were present for last night's meeting, when Mrs. Essie May Miller was in charge of the business session. Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, patriotic instructor of the organization, read a paper on "The Life of William McKinley" to the group The members also decided to donate funds to the "March of Dimes"

After the business session last evening, there was a social time when Mrs. Theodosia Watts and her committee served refreshments. The next regular meeting of this organization will be on Feb. 13 in Memorial hall. Mrs. Ella McHugh will be chairman in charge of arrangements for a covered-dish dinner on Feb. 27.

Sorority Pledges Two; Members Play Bridge At Meeting

Miss Dorothy Hamaker and Mrs. William Jeffries were pledged to the Delta Theta Tau sorority yesterday evening when that organization met at the Towne House for a business and social meeting.

During the business session, Miss Harriet Roth gave a report of the sorority province convention which was held in Cincinnati last Saturday and Sunday. The Misses Esther Dunham, province officer; Maxine Jones, chapter president; Mary Cox, Thelma Reed and Doris Mann accompanied Miss Roth to the convention.

Bridge was in play at five tables during the evening, and high score prizes were awarded to the Misses Reed and Roth. The committee in charge of arrangements for the affair was composed of the Misses Mildred Angle, Virginia Anderson and Louise Palmer.

The next regular sorority business meeting will be held at the Southern hotel on Feb. 6.

Tea at Morgan Home In Honor of Club's Guests

A tea in honor of guests of the Quest club was held yesterday at the new home of Mrs. John Morgan, Woodhill road, when Albert Perez showed some films of the Pacific islands taken by Mrs. George Ashon, a guest. Mrs. Anson explained the pictures.

Miss Leota Hunter, another guest, spoke on the Hawaiian Islands, and Mrs. Carl Walker, accompanied by Miss Louise Krause sang two Hawaiian songs. Tea was served by Mrs. H. H. Hering and Mrs A. C. Tuttle.

Old, New Fashions Meet As Spring Styles Are Forecast

Grandmother's reticule is out in a new version of blue dotted crepe with fuchsia red changeable taffeta to match a pair of evening gloves. Schiaparelli, who makes them all, sets bows of fuchsia red moire on the shoulder and hipline of the blue dotted dinner frock.

A necklace of six standing tucks encircles the neckline of this blouse for midseason and spring wear. It is designed of pale green handkerchief linen which has been processed to prevent fading, and is worn with a brown wool suit.

Mrs. Weir Speaks To Victorian Club

The last five bureaus of the Department of Commerce were discussed yesterday afternoon at the Women's Club when Mrs. Kittie F. Neumann entertained members of the Victorian club. Mrs. D. A Weir gave the paper speaking on the bureaus of census, lighthouse, cost and geographical survey and marine inspection, navigation and fisheries.

Present were three guests, Mrs. E. E. Quick, Mrs. A. A. Barbe, North Bloomfield, and Miss Emma Custer, Philadelphia, Pa. Tea was served at the close of the program, and Mrs. Alice P. Jennings and Mrs. L. A. Peck poured. Spring flowers decorated the dining room and drawing room of the club. Mrs. Mark Wolcott, 193 Maple street, will be hostess to the club at her home Feb. 6.

What Type Most Popular?

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

In a test in which 1,500,000 housewives voted, do you know which cake proved the most popular? Layer cake with chocolate frosting! Which confirms the thought that chocolate is America's favorite flavor. So in honor of this event, we come through with some delightful recipes in which chocolate plays a starring role. Incidentally, when melting chocolate, do so in a small, round-bottomed bowl over hot water—never over direct heat. Cool the melted chocolate slightly before adding to cake mixture.

Golden Cream Chocolate Cake comes first and is made with 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter or other shortening, 1¼ cups sugar, 2 unbeaten eggs, 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, a cup of milk and teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda and salt, and sift all three together. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Then add chocolate and blend. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes. Spread golden cream filling between layers and chocolate fluff frosting on top and sides of cake. With its attractive tinted filling and its contrasting chocolate frosting, this is an especially nice choice when a company dessert is required. Half cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cake flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups milk, 2 egg yolks slightly beaten and one teaspoon vanilla will make the filling. Combine sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler.

More Directions.

Add milk gradually, mixing thoroughly. Place over boiling water and cook 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour small amount of mixture over egg yolks, stirring vigorously; return to double boiler and cook 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and cool. If deeper yellow is required, add a few drops of yellow coloring. Makes enough filling to spread between two 9-inch layers. Chocolate fluff frosting for our noble golden cream chocolate cake requires 4 tablespoons butter, ¾ cup sifted confectioner's sugar, teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, and 2 egg whites. Cream butter, add sugar, and blend. Add vanilla, salt and chocolate, and mix well. Beat egg whites till stiff, but not dry. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time beating after each addition until blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Add to chocolate mixture, folding gently but thoroughly, only enough to blend. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of 9-inch layer cake.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Indeed no," they chorused together, and then Mary dashed over to me, and gave me one of her exuberant hugs.

"You've been such a brick about all this," she said, "and don't you think I don't realize just what you're doing for me. After all, you know, you're not releasing Margaret Graham in that part, but Mary Veritzen, and it's up to her to do her duty."

"I agree with Mary, Aunt Madge," Noel said firmly. "We mustn't take advantage of your kindness."

"I'm very glad you both feel that way," I told them, "for frankly, it was my inclination, not my judgment, that proposed omitting the drill. But I won't want you, Mary, for another two hours, so go back and enjoy your dinner. From your invitation to me, I gather you've not ordered it yet."

"Your deduction is eminently correct," Mary said. "I'm practically starved, and," eyeing her young husband with dancing eyes, "I think Noel looks positively emaciated. Come on, darling, let's go order our evening repast."

She looked at her wrist watch as she danced toward the doorway, and then threw a kiss at me.

"I'll be back in two hours to the minute," she promised, and kept her word.

But the intervening hours had been filled with unreasoning anxiety for me.

Suppose Thorp forgot to mail the letter, or delayed its mailing!

Suppose something happened to it in the mails!

I ran the gamut of worry, and only ceased my fretting when Miss Whitlock's voice sounded over the telephone upon the morning we were scheduled by Dicky's reckoning, to leave the hotel. We had made all preparations for leaving, and with bags packed, were ready to depart at a minute's notice.

The nurse's voice held a trace of unprofessional excitement.

"He's just started!" she said; and I did not need to have her identify the pronoun. "He" could mean none other than Philip Veritzen.

"How did he go?" I asked, for the point was vital. "By train, or is he driving?"

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Jan. 25.

A day of rather drastic action may be looked for, according to the lively lunar and mutual aspects. Things may be pitched at high tension, with tendencies toward reckless, aggressive and impulsive actions, which may result in a web of entanglements, plots or schemes difficult to maneuver. It will take some cleverness and ingenuity to cope with deceptive situations or treacherous friends.

Those whose birthday it is may have an extremely lively and active year, with affairs moving at concert pitch. While there may be some encouraging results, there is the menace of entanglements, intrigues or fraudulent connections which may call for much skill and integrity to sidestep. Treachery of some friends may be offset by the aid of an elderly person.

A child born on this day will be enterprising, aggressive and have much constructive ability, but it may be disposed to expediency and strategem rather than forthright ways of attaining its objectives.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

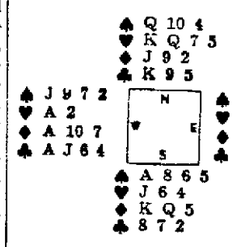
"The Authority on Authorities"

NO UNIMPORTANT CARDS

EXTRAVAGANCE is as unprofitable in bridge as it is in everything else. Players who wantonly toss away intermediate cards such as nines and tens are likely to find a bit later that those little fellows have grown to giants in stature.

Much of the difference between fine players and medium ones is found in the appraisal placed by the more skilled ones on cards which at the moment seem unimportant but may acquire real value as the play progresses.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

South began the bidding here with a weak third-hand call of 1-Diamond. West doubled, North redoubled, East and South passed, West bid 1-Spade, and when it got around to South he called 1-No trump. After North's 2-Hearts, South bid 2-No trump and West doubled. Taken by and large, it was a pretty badly bid hand.

West led his spade 2 and the declarer without delay played the 10 from dummy, which drew the K and A. Followed a heart to the K, another to the J and A, return of the club 4 to the Q, the spade 3 to the 8, 9 and Q, the heart Q, the diamond 2 to the K and A, then two spades cashed by West. With natural play following, South got all told only two tricks in spades, two in hearts, two in diamonds and one in clubs, so was down one.

Had South calculated before playing to the first trick, he would have realized that, with the 10 in dummy and 8 in his own hand, play of the 10 could not pay unless East held the 9. Odds against his holding any one card were heavy, as West both bid the suit and led it. Had he played the 4 to the first trick, he could not have been prevented from getting three tricks in spades, enough to have made his contract safe.

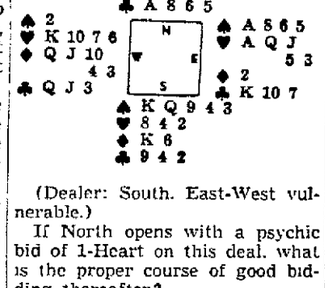
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If North opens with a psychic bid of 1-Heart on this deal, what is the proper course of good bidding thereafter?

Daily Care Keeps Age At Bay

By MME. QUI VIVE

It is the way of the average beauty seeker to follow the off-again-on-again plan when fighting her way to the beauty goal. Well! procrastination won't get her any place. To be in tip-top form and appealing to the eye it is necessary to carry on every day. That old gent with the scythe and the long white whiskers won't make one any younger or lovelier. He awaits the chance to mark up human faces and to take the snap and swish out of youthful bodies. He is an arch enemy and one should be armed for the conflict that goes on from the thirteenth birthday.

No matter how lovely the complexion may be in texture and coloring it will eventually start to toboggan unless given care. The underlying muscles and tissues must be kept firm; that is possible when they are given light tapping movements with finger tips that have been dipped in cream.

* * *

The teeth require two daily brushing—the rule is a scouring after each meal—and professional attention twice a year. There must be made a careful search for caries, tartar must be removed, teeth polished well and thoroughly. A balanced diet will do much toward keeping teeth strong.

Regular hours of sleep promote the health generally, give the central nervous system a much needed rest, do more to keep sparkle in the eyes and sunshine in the disposition than anything else. Get into the habit of falling into bed at the same hour each night. If you short-change yourself and cut down on the required number of hours, make up the loss in rest and complete relaxation.

* * *

Take care of your hair. The elegant coiffure is worth gold and precious gems but you can't have it if the hair is thin if it lacks life and luster. Use the hairbrush. Nothing like a nightly currying to give the old thatch a house cleaning, to rouse the circulation of the scalp and to make hair sing and dance.

Exercise! How many women get exercise in the open air? Not many. The motor car has made walking a tiresome job. Too bad. A brisk walk in nippy air is the grandest of all exercises. It has a refreshing effect upon the spirits as well as the blood streams, the digestive organs and the muscles. Get out and hoof it; you will be on the beauty way.

THEATERS

WALTER WINCHELL, the back-in-a-flash-with-a-flash lad, said Sunday night that the reason an English actress was finally chosen for Scarlett was because no established American actress would play the role, because it's a losing proposition to start with—they knew that no actress could please all of the readers of the book. Selznick Studio says that Vivien Leigh, who will do the role, is not a blond despite her first role, and that she actually combines the dark hair and green eyes of the unprincipled but courageous Scarlett. And that Clark Gable will not play Rhett with an accent because he can't make an accent sound authentic.

* * *

O'Brien and Blondell.

The "Son of Frankenstein," booked for a week at the Ohio, will remain only through today because Mansfield has not shown much interest in it. Opening Wednesday at the theater will be a breezy comedy with Joan Blondell and Pat O'Brien, who have teamed in other pictures. Miss Blondell is seen as a newspaper woman who wants to adopt a tough youngster who has been sentenced to reform school. Before she can get the boy she must find a husband and thereby enters Mr. O'Brien.

* * *

In Supporting Role.

Ann Sothern, who was very popular a short time ago, being teamed with personable young leading men in a series of sophisticated comedies, is back in film work after a brief vacation. She plays a supporting role in "Trade Winds" as the romantically-inclined secretary to a globe-trotting detective. Joan Bennett and Fredric March are starred. The film runs through Wednesday at the Madison.

* * *

Martini to Sing.

The voice of Nino Martini will be heard at the Park theater on Wednesday when his "Music for Madame" is shown there for one day. Among the songs the operatic tenor sings are "I Want the World to Know," "My Sweet Bambina," "Music for Madame," and a selection from "Pagliacci." Joan Fontaine, as a young opera composer, appears opposite Martini. "Invisible Enemy," with Alan Marshall and Tala Birell, also will be shown.

* * *

Love Under Fire.

"Blockade," the Walter Wagner picture dealing with the war in Spain, which caused a furore when it was first exhibited, is one of the Ritz attractions for Wednesday and Thursday. This is the story of the food blockade which starved thousands of women and children and old men, and the principal players in a poignant love story are Henry Fonda, Madeliene Carroll, Leo Carrillo, Reginald Denny, and John Halliday. "The First 100 Years," with Robert Montgomery and Virginia Bruce is the second attraction.

* * *

Big City Drama.

Spencer Tracy as an independent taxi cab driver and Luise Rainer as an immigrant who married him, brings their combined talents to the Majestic screen for three days, starting today, in "Big City." A taxi feud and how it tore down the happiness of these two is graphically portrayed. The brilliant comedy, "Tovarich," with two glittering stars, Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer, is the second feature. Behind the comedy of two members of a royal family doing menial work and making a joke of it, is real drama.

—Advice—

Girl Acts Cool to Boy Friend

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'd been going with a certain girl for almost three years, but didn't think it necessary to tell her every little thing about myself. I never let her know that I only went up to the fourth grade at school. I can't hold a very good position, and when I told her what work I did, she seemed to freeze up at once and she hasn't been the same toward me since.

She lets me take her out occasionally, but has another "steady" boy friend. She says she loves me, but still she goes with this other boy, who, by the way, has an auto. A dear friend of mine tells me I should give her up. Would you advise that? I love her so much.

BILL.

My dear Bill, your lack of education couldn't have been very apparent, as the young lady didn't notice it until you told her about it. The letter you wrote me was well expressed and seems to me was quite good enough to carry you through.

Like your friend, I think it might be a good idea to drop her and I'm sure you will find someone more appreciative. As I so often advise my readers, why not take up a course in something which will help you get a better position? In that way you will make up for what you lost in high school.

Cash Prizes Offered by News-Journal In Pin Tourney

ATTENTION, BOWLERS! Tournament time is rapidly approaching. In fact, it's just around the corner.

And first on the tournament schedule in Mansfield is The News-Journal individual sweepstakes, which will be staged on consecutive week-ends at the Meder Recreation alleys, starting Saturday, Feb. 4.

While no tournament of the type of the coming affair has ever been attempted in Mansfield, it should prove to be one of the most popular pin events ever staged at the Meder alleys.

The sweepstakes is for both men and women, and, in addition to providing a lot of fun for the participants, the event will offer some nifty prizes.

The News-Journal will present the winner in the men's division with $25, while the woman champion will be paid $10. Bowling will be across eight alleys for four games, and the only fee to compete is $1.

The guaranteed first prizes are only two of the awards to be offered. The other prizes will be determined on a percentage basis.

Every bowler in Mansfield has a chance to cop the top honors. The tournament will be conducted on a handicap basis. And, understand this, the total scores will not count. No, the pins rolled over handicaps will determine the championships and prizes.

As an example, say a bowler enters the tournament with a 150 average. And if his total for the four games is 675, he gets a tournament score of 75 pins.

Bowlers not fortunate enough to bowl better than their averages in the tournament are out of the running, of course.

To qualify for the tournament, a bowler must own an average of 15 games or more in any Mansfield league, including the doubles leagues. The tournament average of each participant will be taken from the league in which he or she has bowled the most games.

All handicaps will be taken from 1938-39 season averages. No bowler can bowl more than once.

Incidentally, all bowling in the tournament will be confined to the same alleys, from one to 8, inclusive, except women's matches, which will be rolled on the cellar alleys where the feminine league operates.

So, bowlers, get ready for what looms as the biggest bowling classic of the year for Mansfield, and, meanwhile, watch The News-Journal for further developments on the elimination.

LEWIS, CLASSIEST BOXER AMONG HEAVIES, HOPES TO OUTPOINT LOUIS.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

OF ALL the current boxing champions, John Henry Lewis is probably the least known . . . and John Henry fights for the world's heavyweight championship Wednesday night in New York City. . . . There is not much danger of the challenger in the all-colored titular match lifting the crown from Joe Louis' brow, and probably no one realizes this more than the champion himself.... However, Lewis has a better fighting background than most of the foes Joe has encountered since acquiring the title.

Lewis

Lewis comes from a family that produced the first American challenger for the world's heavyweight champion. . . . Tom Molineaux was Lewis' great-great-uncle. . . . Molineaux was a slave in Virginia who won his freedom by beating a slave bully from another plantation. . . . Then he went to England and fought Tom Cribb in 1810 for the title. . . . John Henry probably doesn't care to follow Ancestor Molineaux's steps any further, for the slave slugger pitched into a ringpost while swinging wildly and fractured his skull. . . . He had given Cribb a bad beating up until then, but he wasn't on deck when they passed out the decision.

John Henry has been fighting since he was four years old. . . . He fought club fight preliminaries with a brother. . . . In 1930, he started out as a pro lightweight, but did more work in the gym than in the ring. . . . He beat Jim Braddock as far back as 1932, but it wasn't until 1935 that he really came into prominence after winning the light-heavyweight crown from Bob Olin. . . . Since then, Lewis has been fighting everybody, including many heavyweights.

The challenger will give approximately 20 pounds to Louis, but the weight difference is not bothering him. . . . He has a plan to beat Louis. . . . Acknowledged as one of the best boxers in the business, he'll try to outpoint Joe . . . if he can keep his chin out of the way. . . . He has been in the fight game longer than Louis yet he is only a week older . . . and more experienced.

* * *

Challenger's a Jitterbug, Too.

LEWIS is a jitterbug, too. . . . He likes to pound a piano spends hours taking moving pictures. . . . His biggest purse was $20,000 for beating Len Harvey in England. . . . While his dad taught him the first principles of boxing, he says his present trainer, Larry Amadee, has improved his style considerably. . . . And Amadee's presence in Lewis' corner may bother Louis. . . . He has been in Louis' corner for all his major fights.

He has seen all of Louis' fights and believes - really believes—that he will be on his feet when the gong ends the 15th round . . . and while we don't agree with him on this point, Lewis has a lot of confidence that Louis may find difficult to shake. . . . But it should be Louis by a knockout.

Bob Feller 'Too Fast' For Georgia Patrolmen.

MARIETTA, Ga.—(INS)—Arrested while running "about 75 miles per hour," while en route to Florida with his parents and sister, Bob Feller, ace hurler for the Cleveland Indians, today had been fined $10, state highway patrolmen announced.

Feller was stopped by state troopers between Calhoun and Adairsville, and taken before a recorder at Calhoun where he pleaded guilty to the speeding charge.

Revenge-Seeking Redmen Face Tygers Tonight

Record Shows 9 Wins

Visiting Team Boasts Scoring Average of 33 Per Game This Season.

BELLVILLE high school's Redmen have a definite reason for wanting to take the measure of Mr. Russ Murphy's Tygers out on the Mansfield hardwood tonight.

The Redmen have not forgotten their upset by the Mansfield high school cagers in the district tournament at Sandusky last season, and, judging from their record this campaign, they will offer the Tygers an interesting battle tonight.

Little Difference.

Perhaps Mansfield has met stiffer opposition than the Redmen.

Bellevue's Record

Bellevue	29	Bowling Green	10

Bellevue	42	Port Clinton	34
Bellevue	42	Willard	30
Bellevue	41	Oberlin	19
Totals	361	Totals	226

but a comparison of scores against Shelby, the only common foe, shows little difference in strength.

Bellevue has won nine out of 11 games. The defeats were administered by Lorain and Toledo Scott. The Redmen's victims include Bowling Green, Tiffin Columbian, Norwalk, Willard, Shelby and Oberlin.

The Redmen have averaged 33 points per game against 21 for their opponents.

Three of the members of this year's squad were regulars last season. The holdovers are Glenn Hime, William Houle and William McClain.

Hime and Don Leininger, who are paired at the forwards, are the Bellevue scoring leaders. Jim Flenner, who holds center, is the tallest member of the speed squad, towering one inch above six feet. Houle and McClain are the guards.

Murphy plans to use his usual starting lineup consisting of Tommy Scott and Jack Dugger, forwards; Dave Shelley, center, and Jake Lyons and Bill Herpich, guards.

Hold Light Drill.

The Tygers were sent through a light signal drill yesterday in preparation for the game.

The reserves of the two teams will meet in a preliminary game at 7 p. m. The main game will get under way at approximately 8:30.

Second Place Teams Collide

Mayflower, First M. E. Vie at 'Y' Wednesday.

One very important change will be made in the Class A Church league standings at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday.

Ownership of second place will be temporarily decided when Mayflower and First M. E. tangle in the second game at 7:15 p. m. These two teams are now tied for the runner-up position, and the winner can advance as high as a tie for first place if the First Lutherans should lose.

The Lutherans meet Park Avenue Baptists in the last game. In the first game at 6:15, Central M. E. tackles Temple Emanuel. St. John and Episcopal vie in the third tilt.

ANGOTT STOPS FOE

PITTSBURGH—Sammy Angott, 133, Washington, Pa., stopped Joey Perrello, 135, New York (10).

Rams Hosts to Bellville Courtmen Tonight

BASKETEERS of Madison high school, undefeated in the Richland county league, will seek their eighth straight circuit triumph tonight when they entertain Bellville on the Rams' planks.

If the Rams can halt the Bluejays tonight, they will hold at least one victory over every league foe.

While Bellville may be troublesome, Madison is expected to win. The Bluejays, who have won only one league game this season, are in last place.

Bill Martin and Howard Hamilton are the Bellville scoring leaders for whom the Madison defense is being set tonight.

Butler, which is staging a comeback after two straight defeats, also is in action tonight, but in a non-league tussle. The Bulldogs invade Perrysville.

Crestline high entertains Cardington in another game billed in this vicinity tonight.

Sonny Meder Clips 719 Pins for Record

Liederkranz Club Rolls Nifty 3012 Series; Club League Lead Taken By Schoolmasters.

BATTERING out games of 229, 267 and 223 for a 719 series, Sonny Meder established a new season individual record in the Club league at the Meder alleys last night.

Meder's spiffy total led the Page Dairys to a pair of victories over the J. A. C.

The second high five-man series of the season was registered by the Liederkranz club, which smacked the uprights for a nifty 3012 count. Scores of 1042, 943 and 1027 were knocked out by the Liederkranz keglers, who, however, took only one game from the Tracy & Avery club.

Bill Donnellan paced the Liederkranz pinsters with a 651; Henry Michaels followed with a 626 and Harold Selby contribtued a 612. Doolittle's 604 led the Grocers.

Closing with games of 244 and 242, Art Hilborn blasted out a 655 to build up the second high individual total, but the Optimists lost two tilts to the Schoolmasters.

The pair of victories enabled the Schoolmasters to grab first place, a game ahead of the American Legion club, handed three whippings by the Mansfield Athletic club, led by Pete Linster's 607.

The Baku Grotto took two games from the Commercial Managers and the Kiwanians swept its match with the Mansfield Savings Bank.

Secretary Harold Miller announced today that the battle for the individual average lead is virtually as tight as the title race. Brig Young of the Legionnaires remains in first place with a 199.6 average, with Meder sporting an even 199. Hilborn follows with 198.33.

The Schoolmasters and Legionnaires will bowl a postponed match at the Meder alleys at 9:30 p. m. Thursday.

Gimbel's Keglers Regain First Place.

TAKING three games from The News-Journals, the third by a margin of 10 pins, Gimbel's Confectioners regained first place in the Commercial C league.

The Confectioners stepped one game ahead of Oscar Walters' Barbers, who dropped a pair of decisions to the Goodrich Silvertown Stores.

Jackson's Potato Chips, also listed among the leaders, dropped two tilts to Lamb's Lincos.

Bowman's 12-Game Winning Streak Snapped by Bushnell

Grade School League Leader Drops 20 to 17 Decision; Hedges Retains Third Place.

BOWMAN'S winning streak in the Grade School basketball league was ended at 12 games at Mansfield high school yesterday when it bowed to the second-place Bushnell courtiers, 20 to 17.

The defeat was the first suffered this season by the Bowmanites in the circuit, and reduces their lead over Bushnell to two games.

Bowman actually lost the ball game in the opening period in which Bushnell obtained a 15 to 2 lead. The later club was held scoreless in the second period, but held a 15 to 6 advantage at the intermission.

Bushnell was outscored in the last two quarters, but the huge lead it secured in the first frame held out until the finish.

Hedges remained in third place by turning back Western, 12 to 4. In the other games, Newman walloped West Fifth, 18 to 9; Brinkerhoff, led by Mercer's 10 points, trimmed Prospect, 14 to 12, and Woodland outpointed Carpenter, 11 to 4.

Strong Finish Beats Wolves

Bucks Hold Michigan to Eight Points After Rest.

(By Associated Press)

Ohio quintets broke even, so to speak, with a pair of invading basketball powers last night.

Ohio State snared its third western conference victory in four starts, snatching a thrilling 45 to 31 triumph from Michigan's Wolverines.

A strong finish turned the tide after Michigan grabbed a 21-14 lead shortly before the half. The Bucks whittled down their foe's margin to 23-20 by intermission—then held the Wolverines to eight markers in the second half. Capt. Jimmy Hull paced Ohio with 16 points.

Notre Dame's mighty machine meanwhile crushed John Carroll at Cleveland, 74 to 37. The Indiana cagers held forth from the start, leading at the half 44-20. Rudich, Carroll center meshed 15 points for individual honors, but the Ramblers split up their staggering total among 'em.

The victors' 74 points represents a new scoring record for Notre Dame.

Put Up Fight, But Sports Win

Elks Succumb to Yuncker Team's Rally In Third Period; Win Assures Victor of Share of Title.

By CHARLES MARTIN

IT LOOKS like the task of naming the champion of the second round race in the City Class A basketball league will be a routine matter, unless the Westinghouse Electrics pull the unexpected next week.

The Electrics meet the undefeated Yuncker Sports in the final game of the round, but if they fail to pull an upset, the title belongs to the high-scoring Sports club.

Last night the Yuncker machine assured itself of at least a share of the crown and registered its 14th straight league victory by stopping a rebuilt Elks Lodge team, 40 to 31, in the feature tilt at Mansfield high.

Lead By One Game.

The Sports' triumph, coupled with the Westies' 23 to 21 setback at the hands of the in-and-out Herrick Hi-Speeds, gives them first place, a game ahead of the Electric outfit.

Manager Jimmy Breres' Sports and the Elks staged one of the finest cage exhibitions witnessed at the Senior high planks in several years.

For three periods the Elks, strengthened by the addition of Noel Morgan, erstwhile Mansfield high star, and Orville Kibler, Ontario high coach, fought the touted Sports on even terms, but wilted under the sharpshooting ability of LaVerne "Hawk" Gray and Harold Hayfer.

Manager Breres' unbeaten combine had to stage a spectacular third-period rally to overcome a slim Elks Lodge advantage, but the club demostrated that it had what it takes when the chips are down.

Gray rattled the backboards for 16 points to boost his season's total to 38, nine short of Farrell's season individual mark of 46. Hayfer added 10 points to the Sports' cause, and Miner collected nine to pace the Elks.

Herrick's Hi-Speeds and the Electrics battled through one of the finest defensive battles witnessed on the Senior high planks this season. The Westies gained an advantage in the opening period they were able to until the fourth stanza.

But the Hi-Speeds, smarting from the drubbing they received from the Sports last week, came up with the win only after a thrill-packed finish.

Cinches Victory.

George Nana, former Akron City league star, who set the scoring tempo with 16 points, slipped in a couple of overhand shots in the closing seconds of the last period to enable his team to triumph.

Nana's 16 points gave him a season total of 32, 14 short of Farrell's total. Fritz Vogle, whose three baskets in the second half kept the Westies in the thick of the contest, led his team with eight points.

STOCKS REGAIN BALANCE DURING SHARP RECOVERY

Upward Reversal Attributed to Theory Market Oversold on Nebulous Fears.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market regained parts of its equilibrium today and sorely pressed leaders of the preceding session recovered fractions to more than 2 points.

Brokers attributed the upward reversal largely to the theory the market had been substantially oversold Monday on nebulous fears of "something" happening in Europe.

Share gainers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Anaconda, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Allied Chemical and Westinghouse. Bonds were a bit mixed, as were commodities.

A prop for motor shares was seen in reports production schedules of the principal manufacturers have been revised upward this month, with a total of 355,000 to 360,00 units for the industry as a whole.

The continued shrinkage of commercial loans, as disclosed by statements of federal reserve member banks in 101 cities for the week ended last Wednesday, tended to chill financial sentiment.

Bellville

BUY STORE

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Henline purchased the Lacey Clothing store from the Lacey estate recently and took possession immediately.

Mrs. Henline before her marriage was Miss Lucile Lacey, daughter of the late Howard and Mrs. Lacey. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Henline taught music at Gibsonburg. Mr. Henline was employed at Baker's men's store in Toledo before coming here. They made their home in Rossford.

BRIEFS

Many Bellville radio listeners heard Frederick Griesinger, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brown, in a piano program over station WTAM Sunday afternoon.

MYSTERY VEILS CAUSE OF CRASH

Pilot Unable to Explain Why Seaplane's Motors 'Died' on Atlantic Trip.

a complete mystery to us all how it happened."

Richardson added it was not particularly unusual for all four motors to fail almost simultaneously for brief periods in flight but "you get out of it by working the throttle."

A board of inquiry will be convened at Hamilton to investigate the disaster—first of its kind in the North Atlantic—Capt. Griffith Powell, trans-oceanic flier and executive of British Imperial airways, announced.

Capt. M. A. Alderson, the slim little pilot who was dazed by the crash—300 miles southeast of Cape May, N. J.—said the plane's fuselage was ripped open by the impact and sank with in 10 minutes.

"Making a deadstick landing," he explained, "we hit the water so hard the hull of the ship split and the water rushed in. It came in with such force that I was washed toward the hold."

Bearing a face cut and still pale, he declined to comment on why the motors went dead.

Survivors varied at many points in their recital of what happened to the three who were lost, but the heroism of four persons—Richardson, Radio Operator Patrick Chapman, Mrs. Edna Watson of Bermuda, a passenger, and Robert Spence, a steward—stood out in most accounts.

Spence was the third victim. The other survivors were Miss Nellie Tucker Smith of Bermuda and Charles Talbot of Brookline, Mass., passengers, and David Williams, the second steward.

Noakes, who was standing when the plane crashed, received a severe head injury. Spence, apparently internally injured, tried vainly to keep him afloat after helping other passengers from the plane and warning them to grab life belts.

Mrs. Watson for long periods supported Captain Alderson, who lapsed into unconsciousness and became semi-delirious.

"Mr. Noakes, who seemed to be badly hurt, held onto me and then I lost him somehow after a while," First Officer Richardson said. "I don't know what became of him.

Spence was with me when he died of exposure. He also seemed to be injured. I don't know how long it was after we landed in the water that Spence died."

FARMERS HEAR . . OF ECONOMICS

O. S. U. Farm Specialist Talks to Management School Here.

The farmer and business man operate under different economic systems but the prosperity of one is important to the other, Virgil Wertz, farm specialist from Ohio State university, told a group of Richland county farmers last night at a farm management school session in the First M. E. church.

"Farmers are under a worse handicap in times of business depression than the industrialist, because they can do little to reduce their overhead expense," Wertz said. "The factory owner lays off men to save money, but the farmer's expenses continue even when his income is down," he added.

Nearly 50 farmers attended the meeting, one of a series being conducted in the county under the supervision of the extension department at Ohio State university.

Wertz outlined the principles of sound economics for farm operation and emphasized the importance of limiting production to comply with demand in maintaining a steady level of prices.

GUARDS CAPTURE FOUR CONVICTS

Chillicothe Fugitives Surrender as They Walk Along Highway.

CHILLICOTHE —(AP)—Guards from the federal reformatory here peacably captured today four armed fugitives who broke out of the prison early Saturday.

Acting Warden W. H. Hiatt said the four, carrying a shotgun, rifle and two large knives, were picked up as they walked along the Richmond Dale-Vigo road, about 12 miles southeast of here. They offered no resistance, he said.

One, Tommy Hunter, 20, of Knoxville, Tenn., was so weak from exposure that he could scarcely walk, but the others were in good condition despite three nights spent in the open in bitter, snowy weather, the officials reported.

COSTLY LESSON

BERNE, Ind.—(AP)—It cost Elmer Winteregg, jr., $10 to learn that a furnace draws air.

He told fellow workers in a furniture factory he'd learned in school that there was no inward air current in front of a furnace.

To prove his theory, Winteregg put a $10 bill on the boiler room floor near the furnace. The draft carried it inside.

To Relieve a Cold Is Not Enough

Father John's Medicine Not Only Helps Break Up Colds, But Builds Up The Body—84 Years In Use. It Must Be Good.

The underlying, basic cause of colds is low vitality—a weakened system which must be nourished.

This is exactly what Father John's Medicine does. It is not "just another cold remedy." It contains healthful ingredients which build up the body and help to renew its vitality.

Father John's Medicine was prescribed for the Reverend Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass. in 1855, and has been used for 84 years as a treatment for colds and coughs due to colds, and also as a proven body builder.

FIRST SEMESTER ENDS AT SENIOR HIGH TOMORROW

Students to Be Assigned to New Classrooms Thursday; 159 Enter From Simpson.

Tomorrow will mark the final day of regular classes at Senior high school for the first semester of the 1938-39 school year, Jesse Beer, principal, announced today.

Thursday will be spent in the assigning of students to their classrooms for next semester, and Friday will be turned over to the issuance of grade cards, Beer said.

School will begin at 9 a. m. Thursday instead of the regular hour of 8:30, and students will be dismissed as soon as they have been to their new classes. There will be no school Thursday afternoon to allow faculty members to arrange their new classes.

School takes up at 12:30 p. m. Friday and students will go through short periods of their semester classes.

One hundred and fifty-nine students will enter the school from John Simpson Junior high school Monday when the new semester gets under way. The school will lose 92 students by graduation, but Beer expects about 40 of these will return and take a post-graduate course. Enrollment at the school now is 1,385.

Party for Operetta Cast.

A party for all students who took part in the operetta, "In Old Vienna," presented last week by the vocal music department, will be held Thursday evening in the high school cafeteria.

A covered-dish dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. and will be followed by a program of instrumental and vocal numbers, and games.

Arrangements for the party are in charge of Ellen Cramer, general chairman. Committees assisting are: Kay Steil, chairman, Julia Fishback, Teddy Wendt, Virginia Casperson, Richard Wright, Hazel Tuttle, June Statler, Robert Frey and John Stretch, entertainment, Ruth Husung, chairman, Evadine Selby, Janet Gannaway, Doris Peat, LaNola Meyers and Janet Gadfield, menu, and William McQuillan and Eloise Husung, invitations.

Chaperones for the affair will be Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Derr, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Jorgenson, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Heasley and Miss Margaret Clapsaddle.

Plans are being made by S. K. Jorgenson, director of orchestra music in the public schools, for the annual concert by the massed grade school orchestra.

The concert will be given March 28 in the Senior high school auditorium by a 140-piece orchestra made up of children from all grades.

Jorgenson plans to make this concert an annual event. Rehearsals are expected to get under way within the next two weeks.

A concert by the Mansfield Junior Symphony orchestra, also directed by Jorgenson, will be given Feb. 3 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel in conjunction with a recital by students of Eugene Weinberger.

NOW IT'S THE 'PURPLE HUDDLE'

Northwestern Co-eds 'Graduate' From Jitterbug Stage.

EVANSTON, Ill.—(AP)—Co-eds who are allergic to the higher lunacies of jitterbug caperings danced today to the moderate tempos of a new creation, the "Purple Huddle," named for Northwestern university's color.

The evolutions of the steps were worked out by Hazel Davis and Sammy Dyer, federal theater dance directors, who described the dance thus:

"The Purple Huddle is composed of lightly syncopated waltz steps with an occasional shift to the faster fox trot. It can be done to any sort of swing music. At intervals the couples pause, go into a huddle and decide which of several possible steps to do next."

To Relieve Bad Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Swift Acting, and Saves Big Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll never know how quickly and easily you can relieve coughs due to colds, until you try this famous recipe. It gives you about four times as much cough medicine for your money, and you'll find it truly wonderful, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a cough. For real results, you've never seen anything better. It loosens the phelgm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

BOARDS NAMED

Pension Committees to Take Office This Month.

SHELBY—Members of the Shelby Police and Firemen Pensions boards today had been named, city officials announced. The boards reorganize annually. The new officers take office this month.

Police Chief Leroy Coffey, Councilman Charles Swanger and John Chew, H. D. Shreffler and R. L. Castor were re-elected to the board during the annual meeting of the Policemen's Pension board recently. Patrolman Jack Coleman was named to succeed Patrolman Walter Benedict in the only change on the board. Officers will be elected at a special meeting Jan. 25.

Fire Chief Eugene Scull was re-elected president during the annual reorganization session of the Firemen's Pension board. Other officers and members include Assistant Fire Chief Jack Ward, vice president; Jack Imhoff, secretary; Councilman C. E. Morris and Chester Bell, and Carl Stambaugh.

CLUB INITIATES NEW MEMBERS

SHELBY—Rev. M. P. Paetznick, L. N. Hoffman, Dudley Seltzer and Francis Gump were initiated by the Shelby Ad club last night at a special meeting at the Shelby Country club.

C. G. Keck, secretary of the club, presided during the dinner meeting in the absence of Stacy Haun, president, and Paul Curry, vice president, who were unable to attend on account of illness. The club voted to pay $35 into a fund to which other service clubs of Shelby are contributing to purchase 60 surplices for the a capella choir at the high school.

Finds 51 Snakes Plugged Up Well.

FAIRFIELD, Ia. —(AP)— Orin Pfeiffer wondered why his well wouldn't work.

Investigation brought him the answer—51 snakes were removed from the well, which is used only for watering stock.

West Point

CLUB MEETS

The Larkin club met Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Mann, the women spent the evening quilting while the men played Chinese checkers and pinochle.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mann assisted by Mrs. Grace Rule and Mrs. Retha Mann. The next meeting will be Feb. 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Parks, in Galion.

MARK BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rule entertained a number of young men at dinner Sunday in honor of the birthday anniversary of their son, Ivan, jr. Those present were:

Ray Mond and Russell Kidwell, Alfred Garverick, Delbert Schaffer, Preston Burgraf, the honor guest and his brother, David.

BRIEFS

George Moffet is ill with heart trouble and complications at the home of his son, Clete, in Williamsport.

The regular Community meeting was held at the hall Tuesday evening. A program in charge of Miss Roberta Garverick was presented. The next meeting night is Feb. 21, with Miss Gladys Bachelder in charge.

LIFTS CHARGES

Beightler to Halt Ouster as Carr Resigns Posts.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Highway Director Robert S. Beightler said today he would withdraw ouster charges against J. Matthew Carr as the result of Carr's resignation from the $3,600-a-year post of personnel director in the roads department.

Carr's resignation late yesterday was accepted by Beightler and became effective immediately. No successor has been named.

Beightler filed charges Friday with the state civil service commission, accusing Carr of ordering destruction of personnel records in the Columbus office and of soliciting classified workers for political campaign contributions.

DistricT BREVITIES

BUCYRUS—Two parties over the week-end marked the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Willis J. Wentz. The couple entertained their nieces and nephews Saturday night at a dinner and Sunday noon entertained their brothers and sisters. Open house during Sunday afternoon and evening followed.

ASHLAND—County dog warden C. W. Koegler reported the sale of 3,662 dog licenses up to the deadline period here January 20, for a slight increase over the 1938 sales. In 1938 there had been 3,655 tags sold by the same time.

BUCYRUS—Dr. J. F. Johnston, optician, is confined to City hospital with scalp and facial lacerations received when he fell and struck his head on a hand railing on South Sandusky avenue Saturday.

BUCYRUS — E. W. Lutz, Bucyrus attorney was elected president and Dean Bair, North Robinson, vice president at the annual reorganization of the county school board Saturday night. Lutz succeeds C. F. Hoover as head of the county group. Other members of the board are I. W. Kurtz and Albert Shafer.

MILLERSBURG—An overheated stove in the living room of the farm residence of Mr. and Mrs. Eli M. Yoder on the Charm road southeast of here set their house afire while they were at church Sunday morning. Before the fire gained headway it was discovered by a nearby neighbor, who summoned other neighbors, and the fire was put out before the Millersburg fire department arrived, and before much damage was done.

BUCYRUS—The estate left by Attorney Alfred S. Leuthold, who died of a heart attack two weeks ago, has been appraised at $127,169, according to an inventory and appraisement filed by appraisers Samuel A. Leuthold, Elmer W. Lutz and Emmett C. Crall, Monday. Mrs. Hattie Leuthold, the widow, is executrix of the will.

OK'S BUDGET

SHELBY—A budget calling for an expenditure of $2,000 for 1939 was approved last night by the Seltzer park board. The 1939 appropriation is approximately the same as last year. The budget did not include the revenue from the park swimming pool, Clerk Bert Fix disclosed today. The pool receipts will be appropriated later.

Found by Mystic?

Through a crystal gazer appearing at a Fort Morgan, Colo., theater, Mrs. George H. Dennis of Fort Morgan located her 10-year-old son, Lloyd Comstock, jr., in Des Moines, Ia., according to the story told police by Mrs. Dennis. The boy left home five years ago with his father and did not return.

STAGE CONCERT

SHELBY—The annual winter concert of the musical organizations of Shelby high school will be presented at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the school auditorium.

Over 100 students will participate in the event which will be presented by a capella choir of 58 voices, the orchestra and school band. Russell Conger, music supervisor, is in charge of the program.

HEAR TEACHER FROM BUCYRUS

SHELBY—Miss Rachel Brant of Bucyrus, religious education teacher in the Bucyrus public schools, spoke at the regular meeting of the Shelby Council of Religious Education at the United Brethren church last night.

Miss Mildred Magnuson, who holds the same position in the Shelby schools, gave a brief account of her work with the students during the past years. Ministers and representatives of the Shelby churches attended the meeting.

The Plymouth Garden club met Friday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clarke. Mr. Bartholomew was the leader. The evening's topic was "Orchids."

'PERSONALITY' DISCUSSED BY GALION HI-Y CLUB MEMBERS

GALION — Much information was derived from the panel discussion on "Personality," which featured the program for the meeting of the Hi-Y club at Senior high school Monday night. The program was in charge of Herman Guffey and those taking part were Norman Knable, Herbert Eichhorn, Victor Smith, John Elliker, Michael Eckstein. Scripture was in charge of John Elliker.

The meeting was presided over by Richard Secrest when plans were made to attend the Sunday morning services at the United Brethren church, Jan. 29. A report of the service committee chairman, Robert Miller, was given. This showed charity work of the club and other activities.

A committee headed by Lawrence Maidens was named to assist in planning the joint meeting with the Girl Reserves on Feb. 27.

* * *

The January meeting of the Lutheran Daughters was held Monday night at the Peace Lutheran parish house with Alice Plack and Mrs. Lloyd Rehl as hostesses. Business was in charge of the new president, Mrs. Douglas Young, and the program was conducted by Arvilla Emmenegger.

Senior circle, Child Conservation league, met Monday night at the home of Mrs. C. L. Morkel. The assisting hostess was Mrs. Mary Stokley. Devotions were led by Mrs. J. L. Fulton, and an interesting paper was presented by Mrs. Fred Hessenauer.

* * *

When the Good Will club held its regular meeting Monday night at St. Patrick's social auditorium the hostesses for cards, contests, prizes, and refreshments were Mrs. Clarence Cussins and Mrs. Norman Schnelker.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Terry of this city were honored on their silver wedding anniversary Saturday by a surprise party given at their home by a group of friends. The couple were presented with a number of gifts.

Mrs. W. J. Briggs, assisted by Mrs. Darwin Berry, will entertain members of the Mother's Study circle at 8 p. m. today at her home. Mrs. Ivo Moll and Mrs. Leo Bookmyer will be in charge of the program.

The general topic, "Thomas Hardy, Scientific Determinist and Artist," will be in charge of Mrs. Verlin Schiffer when the program is given for the regular meeting of the Anna R. Fish Delphian chapter at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Central grade school.

Members of the Shelby Women's club were entertained last night at the home of Mrs. Don Battershell on Seltzer avenue for a regular meeting. A book review on, "The Yearling," was given by Mrs. L. N. Hoffman. Mrs. Lewis Patterson read a paper on the subject, "Outstanding Women in Business." The current event topic was given by Miss Zanta Wildman.

The Kings' Daughters class of the United Brethren church held its monthly meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Helen Crum on Sharon street. Twenty members were present for the program. Mrs. Otis Hart, president, and Mrs. George Perman, devotional chairman, were in charge of the meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Margaretta Brucker spoke on the subject, "Accepted or Rejected," during the program for the guest tea given Saturday at the Sheets home on Marvin avenue by the American Association of University Women. Hostesses for the affair were the Misses Zorayda Sheets, Mary Kingsboro and Gertrude Kotz and Mrs. R. T. Kemper.

Shelby members of the Women's Benefit association attended a joint installation service for the Shelby and Crestline chapters last night at the Crestline lodge rooms. Mrs. Helen Sawyer of Cleveland, district deputy, was in charge of the ritual. Mrs. Vincent Fetters of Crestline presided during the meeting that followed a pot-luck supper. A program was given by the Crestline lodge.

A joint party and meeting was held by the Amy Allison and Young Men's classes of the First Presbyterian church Monday evening at the church rooms. A pot-luck supper preceded the social time.

Seventy-nine Percent Lack Dental Care

By John C. Doris, Druggist

Not long ago it was estimated that seventy-nine per cent of the American population received no attention from dentists — almost unbelievable, isn't it?

If an estimate of the number of children only were made, that percentage figure would loom larger, when it is remembered that nine out of ten children need dental care.

Parents will have cause, always, to view with pleasurable retrospect their decision, now, to have a dentist check their children's teeth and do such work as is found necessary for the preservation of those teeth.

Bad teeth constitute an insurmountable handicap to health, study, play, but that handicap can be eliminated through the services of an experienced ethical dentist, one who has the confidence of the community.

What you invest now will be less than required later. Vacation time is a good time to do it.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1939.

The New Dealers took over an emergency in 1933 and have managed to keep it alive ever since.

There's a theory that the next great war will be fought with germs—but to many the idea seems streptocock-eyed.

Food for thought: A troupe of chimpanzees in the St. Louis zoo declined an offer to appear in a Hollywood picture.

Children Imitate Adults.

THE important part that imitation plays in establishing habits and influencing behavior was stressed in the baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. David N. Roller to the 91 members of the January graduating class of Mansfield high school.

The thought of being a mere "imitator," rather than an originator, may not be especially pleasing to self-confident young folks, but it will not take long for the observant ones among them to realize that a vast majority of people follow along lines of established custom and do the things that they see other people doing.

Many present adults who have succeeded in some particular kind of work can look back to childhood selection of some older person as an example in achievement, while those who have failed can also recall a time when they made the mistake of choosing some unworthy model for imitation.

Nature's rules for right living, as essentials to happiness and worthy accomplishment, are so clear and unalterable as to be readily understood by any young person who has attained the intelligence required for high school graduation.

Nor is it difficult to find examples for imitation in any sort of living to which youthful thought may be attracted—good or bad. But if the models chosen are along lines that do not reflect accepted standards of proper conduct it will be well for young people to check up on an occasional "finished product" of dissipation, immorality, and others of the vices, before permitting imitation of bad examples to become a fixed habit.

It may also be well to keep in mind that older persons who are being "imitated" have a considerable responsibility in conducting themselves in ways that will exert a beneficial influence on boys and girls who look to them for direction, inspiration and guidance.

Sues to Recover Gambling Losses.

CONFISCATION of slot machines from the club rooms of a Loudonville fraternal organization, in association with a suit in which a woman seeks to recover $5,000 which her husband allegedly lost by gambling in the lodge club rooms, brings to public notice a situation which will sometime require more serious thought than it appears to have thus far been given.

While Ohio law has long made provision for a wife's recovery of her husband's gambling losses it is a remedy that is not frequently resorted to, probably for the reason that it seems to stigmatize the assumed intelligence of the husband.

It is also known, of course, that Ohio laws which ban gambling devices apply equally to all places in which they are operated, although there has been tacit understanding that gambling in private clubs is not to be disturbed—on the assumption that playing the machines is confined to the membership and that losses by members are contributions to the club or lodge treasury.

The Ashland county case, however, indicates that losses may reach a considerable figure, and possibly take money needed for support of a family. It can scarcely be conceived that the high principles upon which any fraternal organization is founded would condone practices which might work hardship on any member or his family.

Democracy for the Blessed.

QUITE a dissertation on the present German situation may be read between the lines of a speech made by Herr Karl Kaufmann, governor of the formerly free city of Hamburg. He was talking to the local chamber of commerce, and most of his speech followed the regular Nazi line. One curious statement slipped in.

Democracy, he said, was a luxury which only states swimming in raw-material riches could afford.

That is more complimentary than what Nazi leaders usually say about democracy. It is also a little pitiful. For a moment it dispels the cloud of angry words flowing so steadily from Nazi sources and reveals a good deal of hunger, both physical and spiritual, and very human envy.

A Mother's Decision.

WHEN a 20-year-old Kansas City, Mo., college student was arrested the other day for speeding he phoned his mother to bring money for his bond.

Instead, she decided that a night in jail would teach the boy a lesson he would remember.

When released the next morning, after his mother paid his fine, the youth remarked: "It was an experience I'll never forget. I didn't sleep very well."

It couldn't have been easy for a mother to make such a decision—yet it was one that may save her and her son much later grief.

More Pictorial Beauty.

THE "new photography" as represented in the newspapers and magazines is doing a great job, but is only beginning. The public, like the photographers and publishers, realizes more and more the infinite possibilities of this art, when practised with the wonderful cameras of today and the new printing methods. Photography is becoming almost as fine an art as painting.

In these varied and revealing pictures we are discovering that there is as much beauty in little things as in big ones.

Photography, for purposes of art as well as science, is going into the realm of the magnifying glass and microscope, showing incredible order and beauty in snowflakes, insects' wings, mineral crystals, and so on. And with the new "electronic microscope" recently shown to American scientists, we may soon be getting pictures of the smallest organized units of matter, atoms magnified a million times or more, showing the ordered beauty of which scientists have dreamed.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—When Senator Clyde M. Reed of Kansas announced a few days back that he expected to be the most UNpopular member of congress in almost no time at all it seemed high time to investigate.

Members of congress, especially senators, who say that sort of thing usually have something up their sleeve or else have dropped a screw. It developed that Senator Reed had not dropped a screw. Freshmen senators almost never attract much attention but Reed plastered himself, including pictures with cutlines, in many a newspaper.

Clyde M. Reed

In no time at all the thing which Senator Reed expected began to happen. (He has been in politics before.) The fan mail began to pour in.

It is just as well to tell you that Senator Reed said he likely would be unpopular because he was going to be the "compleat independent," even though a Republican minority member.

Republicans hoping to show strength with help of Independent Democrats, first must keep their ranks in order.

* * *

Protests Poured In.

DOZENS of irate Republicans wrote in to complain that the party was just now in a position to make a name for itself after six years of mortifying inactivity—and up comes a fledgling senator who says he won't be loyal to the party.

Reed insists many "fans" commended him. "Don't let them boss you around," was the interpretation he used.

Reed has had his battles in Kansas before. He was elected governor in 1928 amid forecasts that a strong Republican leadership in the legislature would ride over him. It didn't, but the fight that developed out of that situation started two men on their career.

Republican leaders tried to defeat Reed when time for re-nomination came around (as he tells it) and the split in the party permitted the almost unheard of election of a Democratic governor. The new governor was Harry Woodring, and because he was a victorious Democratic governor in a non-Democratic state he took on considerable stature and was chosen in 1933 as assistant secretary of war. Now he is secretary.

Woodring lasted only one term as governor, as had Reed, then the Republicans came back in and elected Alfred Landon. In turn, a Republican who could be elected even in Kansas in the face of the Roosevelt landslide took on stature. So Landon, too, found himself a marked man. Seventeen million Republicans in 1936 backed him against Roosevelt.

* * *

Presidential Possibility?

REED explains his Kansas victory:

"The country was tired of Yesmen. Kansas knew I wasn't one.

"The country was tired of spending, and I was for economy all along, even in relief.

"Kansas thought I had been dealt unfairly by in 1930 by the Republican leadership. And they wanted to right a wrong."

Some people are already talking of him as a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1940.

"But I'm not fooling myself," he says, in regard to that. He is 67. Yet, with a twinkle in his eye he will add: "If the Democrats choose Secretary of State Hull, I'm still not out. He's older than I am."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Jan. 24, 1919.

Richland County Medical society held twelfth annual banquet at Southern hotel.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jay R. Palmer.

Mrs. Albert Martin, Lexington avenue, underwent appendicitis operation at General hospital.

Bond issue of $8,000 was authorized to install street lights in Lucas.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Marks; son to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wappner, South Adams street; son to Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCambridge.

Thomas Ford and Harry Chambers entertained at home of the former on Marion avenue.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Jan. 24, 1934.

State liquor commission announced that the two dispensories allowed Richland county would be at Mansfield and Shelby.

A trusty at the reformatory escaped after robbing the residence of Chaplain W. K. Mackey of $100 worth of merchandise.

Two Mansfield men were granted patents on their inventions. They were Fred Dippman and Pliney Pipes, both of the Ohio Brass company.

Miss Veldah Case became the bride of Kenneth R. Myers at St. Matthews Lutheran church.

Miss Betty Jane Druschel, 96 Woodland avenue, was surprised by friends on her 10th birthday anniversary.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Gold was discovered in California by James Marshall at Calmua on Jan. 24, 1848. He accidentally made the discovery when building a sawmill beside the American river.

Pro and Con on Fortifying Guam

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Although war experts like Maj. Gen. William C. Rivers, retired, deprecate the proposed American fortifications of the western Pacific island of Guam, as a needlessly provocative gesture in Japan's direction, there evidently is a good bit of sentiment in Washington to the effect that now is a particularly opportune juncture for Uncle Sam to deflate Japan's militarists.

Senator William E. Borah, notably, among U. S. lawmakers, agrees with Gen. Rivers. Of course all our pacifistic groups take the same position. For that matter, no civilized person dissents from the proposition that the United States should be very hesitant to aggravate Nippon unnecessarily.

However, there are others (not of the firebrand class, either) who argue that the present situation affords a heaven-sent chance to prevent Japanese-Yankee hostilities in the future. Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn is one of these, and perhaps he knows as much about oceanic and insular conditions as Gen. Rivers does. And the admiral also has supporters on Capitol Hill, as well as the general.

Right In Japan's Dooryard.

Now, Guam and Wake Island (our strategists want a formidable naval base on Wake likewise) are right in Japan's dooryard.

Gen. Rivers' reasoning is that, if some potentially hostile power were to undertake to intrench itself virtually in our home waters (say on some Caribbean key or off the Lower Californian coast), we wouldn't stand for it for a minute.

He is correct, certainly. We would not.

Nor would I deny that Japan has not a talking point even as to this issue. The Japanese, we think, are trying to gobble China. They dispute it, but they aver that unquestionably we are trying to monopolize Latin America. They maintain that it comes with a mighty poor grace from us to find fault with their claims on the Asiatic mainland.

Anyhow, Tokyo assuredly is trying to trim American commercial rights in China down to zero. British and French rights ditto. And Belgian and Dutch and Scandinavian rights—but these countries are too trifling to signify.

The U. S. A. protested, as was to have been expected.

Britain kept quiet for a while, but today it is joining Washington in its opposition to the Japanese acquisition program. France is developing the same symptoms.

Free Hand In China.

Japan's notion has been that it could have a pretty free hand in China.

That coast is a dickens of a long way off from California and even from Hawaii. Our navy men have recognized for years that the Philippines were a weakness to us. Our warships could only get to Manila all hot, breathless and tired. Japanese southern Formosa fighting craft would be waiting for them after an overnight steaming, fresh as a daisy.

England has the North Sea, the Mediterranean and the Indian ocean to defend.

France still has the Mediterranean to take care of.

Germany and Italy nominally are pro-Japanese. Still, Japan took advantage of the last war to rob Germany of its China-coast territory. In the event of a general conflict, Herr Hitler would be more than put to it in the North Sea. Signor Mussolini could not get east of Suez. Japan would be out on a limb—still with China guerilla-fighting and Russia on its hands (for the Soviets could not imaginably miss their chance to wipe out old scores), and with the U. S. A. digging in on Guam and Wake.

Soldiering Versus Economics.

It is not altogether a problem of military power, either.

Japan is economically weak.

Where is the mikado going to get his basic resources?

He expects to get them from China. But he can't get them in such an awful hurry.

Now is the time to forestall him, according to the Guam and Wake islanders.

Health Advice

Perform "Miracles" In Medical Research.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE ROCKEFELLER institute for medical research is still humming and turning out information of great service to humanity. I visited the hospital of the institute the other day to find out what they were doing about pneumonia, but I saw many other things as well.

A young man at a work desk was busily trephining eggs. He had a delicate circular saw, run by electricity, with which he could cut a window in an egg with all the deftness and neatness and dispatch in the world. Eggs have been found to be splendid culture media for the viruses of certain infections—viruses that will grow only on living tissue. This young man's particular problem was to isolate the virus of rheumatism, of acute rheumatic fever. He hasn't found it, yet he is still earnestly trying.

Pneumonia, once the most dreaded of winter diseases, can be controlled quite well now by serum. In the last year or two the serum has been put on a thoroughly scientific basis and can now be whole-heartedly advocated.

There are many varieties of the germ which causes pneumonia. It is officially named the pneumococcus, but among experts you have to say Pneumococcus Type I or Type VIII or Type XXXII, as the case may be.

In order to give serum scientifically the kind of pneumococcus the patient has must be typed. It is far simpler to do this now than it was in the old days when I was using pneumonia serum in the army. Some ingenious research worker found that the jelly-like capsule which surrounds the germ will swell if exposed to the anti-serum of that particular type of pneumococcus. So by using this method, the type can be determined in a few minutes.

This is important, for success depends on getting treatment started as early as possible.

I saw many patients and many fever charts which demonstrate conclusively that the patient's fever comes down immediately after giving the serum and that is a sign that healing has begun. If it goes up again, a simple skin test can be made which shows whether the patient has had enough serum. If not, more is given until a result is obtained.

Sulfanilimide Valuable.

All the types of pneumonia respond, except only Type III. This is the most dangerous and fatal type, and serum has no effect on it. However, a new form of the drug sulfanilimide, which has been so successful in combating general bodily infections, is now being used with success in Type III pneumonia. In fact, this sulfanilimide-pyridine has been found valuable in all forms of pneumonia. So much so that temporarily the serums have been discarded in its favor.

Another research that is still in the speculative stage concerns still another pneumonia remedy. It is well konwn that after the crisis in pneumonia, the consolidation in the lung breaks up very rapidly. In a few days nobody could tell by looking at that lung that it had just been the seat of a pneumonia.

The substance which produces this forms in the blood and is called lysin. Somebody at the Rockefeller Institute found that lysin, of identical chemical construction, could be extracted from cabbage. Injected into the body of a pneumonia patient, it shortens the course of the infection.

A Farmer's Diary

Dad and Mom Get a Letter.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

MY FARMER friend took a heavy letter from his lock box in the village postoffice, and his face lighted.

"Some folks get big fat letters," I remarked, "even when their hair is gray. I used to like to get that kind myself."

"Wait 'til your boy's in college," he returned. "Our boy's a Junior this year, and every week on Tuesday we get a letter. In the last one, we nigh laughed our sides sore when he told about dragging his roommate into the bathroom, and holding him under the faucet, then turning on the cold water. The boy's a freshman, who's always foolin' round. They put him to room with John, so he'd learn somethin'. John said he's a good kid, and he thought he could help him some. Mom and me supposed he did."

"How are John's grades? Is he doing well?" I asked, smiling.

"One B and three A's—and A's the highest they give. We're proud of that, too," he added. "But when he wonders how we are, and says not to work too hard, and wants to know about the new-born colt, and the week-old pigs, and the sheep and the little calves, we think he may be homesick just a little. Then Mom says, smilin' through her tears, 'Ain't it fine our boy remembers us so often and wants to come home?' He's comin' back to help with the farmin' next summer."

"How can you afford to send him?" I asked.

"Last week I sold forty hogs he helped to raise, and sent him half. Mom says its more profitable invested in John than put in the bank. Next year we're goin' to work a little harder and send the other boy. They'll room together, then. They're both tall and strong. John'll be an aeronautic engineer and Herb says he'll be a doctor. Even now he has some medical books he reads. He doctors all the animals on the place and gives Mom and me free health advice, when we will take it."

"You're making a real investment for the future," I said.

He smiled. "It'll be a great day when we see them graduated. They'll be fixed to live better and do more good than we can. Mom and me ain't educated."

"They're fortunate boys to be climbing on your shoulders," I remarked. "Thank ye," he said, and seemed a little puzzled. I watched him go out, the letter in his hand, his wrinkled face a precious study.

Listen, World!

To Live . . . To Grow . . . To Dare.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NIGHT—somewhere around three. The storm—raging—had now become an oozing mush of black. In the watery glare about the corner lights, the rain gleamed briefly, then was blotted out. No sound, except the gulp and drip of water on a huddled car. The car itself was just a darker blue against the night. But, from some source, a needling ray of light pierced the drenched pane, disclosed the sagging figure of a slender man bending above a paper on his knee—writing between long, lagging gaps—

"My reactions," the man wrote. R'actions? The pencil stopped. He fumbled feebly at a tube which ran along the steering rod. R'actions . . . why? What made a fellow want to write about himself at times like this? He coughed, gagged slightly—yanked his collar band. Jus' sleep—that's all he wanted. 'Twouldn't be long now. That tube? He sniffed. The air was getting thicker . . . sweet. Just to go to sleep . . . He seemed to doze, sprawled lower in the seat. The rain dripped . . . gurgled . . . A horn honked, faintly—far away—

He started upward with a lurch . . . retching and reaching wildly for the door—then shook his head—slumped back. No use changing now. Better go on with it. Set down what kind o' sap he'd been, then go. Fellows like him, that couldn't somehow click . . . they'd better quit. Once more his hand moved on—

"R'actions?" He mouthed the word curiously . . . then continued, talking as he wrote, in the monotonous monotone of a little boy reciting his lessons. Tell about the air first. " . . . just a bit sweet . . . not too fresh . . ." Maybe that's what was wrong with him. Too sweet. Sappy . . . softy . . . just a spoiled kid always. Crying for the moon. And now his moon had . . . gone away! . . . His face worked. For a space he sat, sobbing tearlessly . . . a spoiled kid . . . that couldn't keep his moon . . . that's what he'd been. He coughed again—his breath laboring. Then, with an effort, clutched the pencil tighter. Better hurry—Get it down—Tell it, so they'd know he'd gotten wise to himself at last—

"Adolescence . . . maybe." The letters zigzagged—writher across the page. "Must grow up according to my . . . guess I grew . . . getting trifle dizzy . . . " He raised his face—stared strangely, his eyes quickening. Then, with that strange, new light still on his face, wrote—"Going now—" . . . And then was gone.

* * *

AND so, while we yet drank our New Year's toasts, a young man — brilliantly gifted, widely loved, but puzzled beyond the bearing, went out into the night . . . And some will call it suicide and sneer . . . But I am thinking that this muddled lad, touched shining heights before he went away. He may have failed to save himself . . . but in those few, scrawled words he left the means of understanding and salvation for us all.

For you have felt just as he did, haven't you? Never sure of yourself . . . always convinced you'd fail . . . no matter how hard you tried. Always outside the game. Always questioning, always doubting . . . Never once positive that anything was worth while! But why? Why must Life fail us so?

He'd asked those questions—just as you are asking them. And as he wrote that note, he saw the answer—

Life doesn't fail us . . . we fail Life. We lose its glory, not through some trickery, but because we, ourselves, are afraid to risk it. We're afraid to grow up . . . afraid to leave childish days and childish desires behind us . . . so we keep crying for our pretty lost moons instead of tackling Life like full-grown men.

TO LIVE . . . TO GROW . . . TO DARE—TAKING LIFE AS IT COMES, REGARDLESS OF THE COST . . . that was the right way, and he saw it at the end. TO "GROW UP"—that was the one, great law . . . He'd lost the way, himself—but, dying, he set others on the trail.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I know a composer who thinks that every man has at least one song in his heart, and if he knows music can write it. That was O'Henry's idea, too, only in a different way. He always thought that in every man's heart, however inconspicuous or unknown that man, material for an engrossing story could be found, if you could only get to it.

Well, let's see. There was the Manhattan telephone directory, big and bulky, close at hand. I flipped it open, just for fun, and looked down. The name at my fingertip was Philip M. Carter.

Phil Carter, eh? Would Mr. Carter have a story? Would I find him at 22 East 40th street? Would he talk? It certainly was worth a try anyway.

* * *

SO OVER we go, across ten squares of icy sidewalks, to a bank and an elevator that let us out on the fifth floor. There was his door. I looked at the legend in big black type: "Detroit Compensating Axel Corporation." Hmmmm. Not very encouraging.

That's what I thought. But that was before I got to talking with this blue-eyed, rather stocky southerner who began life in a Savannah, Georgia, orphanage. That's right, in an orphan's home. But he's a trustee of that home today. He is also the moving spirit behind a four million dollar corporation.

Well, let's go back a bit and have a look at the in-between years. He was out of the orphan's home when he was 14, and working in a grocery store. Just a handy boy, running chores, sweeping out occasionally, doing odd jobs.

One day after a lengthy conversation he convinced his boss that the store would gain in prestige if he, Carter, belonged to the National Guard. "But I haven't any money for a uniform." Well, the boss thought he could fix that. "If you make the grade," he told him, "I'll pay for your uniform."

You can imagine the little scene that took place several months later when Lieutenant Carter, in costly shiny boots, serge uniform, with all the fancy braid and trimmings, walked into his boss, saluted smartly, and said: "Thanks, Sir, for this new uniform you just bought me."

* * *

THIS little anecdote, in a way, helps explain our Mr. Carter, who since that time (he's in his thirties now) has been railroader, salesman, traveler, broker, and jack-of-all-trades.

But he's in love now — with wheels. That's his life and his job. They're those big wheels you see on trailers and trucks, the big wheels with two pairs of tires.

"Well," he says, "it's an idea, and I'm proud of it. I think I help save lives by these wheels, and I help save money. How do I save lives? If you're sailing along and have a blow-out at 60 miles an hour you might turn over. But if you have two wheels, you just keep rolling. How do I save money? Well, my wheels rotate independently, and when you turn a corner you don't drag one across a road surface and wear out the rubber. With two wheels you can also carry twice as much freight at no increase in fuel consumption."

It was at this point that I interrupted Mr. Carter and got him talking about the adventurous part of his career. Personally I don't know anything about wheels or even what makes them go 'round. I just wanted to prove something a composer said a long time ago. I think he was right.

GALION LABOR BOARD HEARING MOVES SWIFTLY

Three Witnesses Called in Action Contesting Union Representation.

GALION — Proceedings moved slowly in the rival union claims before the NLRB at the public library Monday, and three witnesses appeared during the afternoon.

The hearing which had been postponed from last Thursday noon to Monday morning on account of the illness of Trial Examiner J. J. Fitzpatrick, is in charge of Charles W. Whittemore, trial examiner, who was sent from Washington, Monday, to replace Fitzpatrick.

The complaint was filed by the United Garment Workers of America, Local 147, affiliated with the AFL, and the hearing is to determine whether it or the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Local 325, affiliated with the CIO, will represent the employes of the Stratbury plant in collective bargaining.

President Testifies.

Mrs. Helen Prosser, president of the United Garment Workers from March 1, 1938, to Oct. 17, 1938, took the stand Monday afternoon. She told of a meeting on March 10, when the United Garment Workers agreed to a consent election at the plant. Under questioning, Mrs. Prosser said that on July 28, the day the company signed a contract with the CIO local, they should have held an election at the plant.

H. A Bradley, general organizer of the United Garment Workers, who is in charge of the case for the local union, was also on the stand. Bradley said that they had waited until Oct 14 to file a complaint because he had talked to James P Miller of the labor board a number of times, and Miller advised they couldn't do anything at that time because the Amalgamated union had a charge pending against the company for unfair labor practices. Bradley also told of his meeting with Ned J. Boggs, field examiner for the NLRB, on March 10, when the AFL local had agreed to the consent election.

A. G. Skundor, organizer for the local machinists' union affiliated with the AFL, was also on the stand and told of attending some meetings of the United Garment Workers when they were being organized here.

In the morning, both Bradley, representing the United Garment Workers, and A. A. Miller, attorney for the Amalgamated, stated their claims.

$231,000 SPENT BY WPA IN 1938 ON RURAL JOBS

Government Contributes Half Million in All for City, County Projects.

Federal work relief projects brought $231,240 to the rural areas of Richland county for road, bridge and ditch improvements last year, A. H. Moellenkamp, county WPA engineer, reported today.

To obtain that amount, the county had to spend another $100,000 as the sponsor's share of the WPA programs for improvement of the county's highway system and drainage projects.

The county's share of the federal funds is in addition to $344,390 spent on WPA projects in the city of Mansfield last year, and brings the total for both city and county to $675,630.

Of the total amount spent on projects, the federal government contributed $459,630, the city of Mansfield, $116,000, and the county, $100,000.

2 Major County Projects.

The county's share, believed the largest amount it ever spent in one year for federal relief projects provided two major programs, both of which were carried over into 1939 for completion.

One was a $1,000,000 road and bridge project launched early in the year and the other was a $131,000 ditch program started last fall to absorb the unemployed as the road work was discontinued because of cold weather.

During the period from No. 22 to Jan. 6 the federal government paid $20,063 to county workers on WPA projects, while the county spent only $1 893 in the same period as sponsor of the projects.

Four drainage ditches in Springfield, Cass and Jackson townships have been improved so far under the county-wide ditch project, and 150 men will be put to work within a few days in Mansfield where Ritter's Run, Touby's Run and Rocky Fork creek will be dredged and confined in retaining walls.

The work in the city will be included in the $131,000 county project, but the city and the Mansfield Conservancy district will be required to provide a part of the sponsor's funds.

SEEKS SEWER

Property Owner Petitions Council For Sanitary Line.

A request was on file with city council today for the construction of a sanitary sewer on Cook road from Dickson parkway to Woodland road.

The petition was filed with Council Clerk William J. Beer, jr., by James M. Dickson, Stewart lane, who asks council to pass the necessary legislation for the sewer construction and charge the assessments against the property on the north side of the road of which he is the owner.

HEARS TALK ON 'TECHNOCRACY'

Galion Rotary Club Addressed by Bellefontaine Speaker at Dinner Meeting.

GALION—Those who attended the Rotary dinner meeting Monday night at Carmel's heard an interesting talk on "Technocracy" by Lyle Bristow of Bellefontaine. Two other visitors present were Andy Anderson and M. D. Porter, members of the Marion Rotary club.

The Galion president, H. T. Jackson, read a letter from District Governor Charles Hoot of Orrville which revealed his resignation of the position, and told of the appointment of Harold Covault of Lorain, last year's district governor, who will serve in the vacancy. A letter of appreciation for Father Hoot's work will be sent to him by the local club.

Next week the Galion Rotary club will join other service clubs of the city for a Citizenship Dinner being sponsored by the Federation of Women's clubs at the United Brethren church.

Wear-Ever Kitchen Utensils Used at Food Institute

Wear-Ever aluminum utensils from the Goetz hardware store are being used this week at the Gasco Food institute at the Ohio theater.

Miss Louise McFarland, director of the institute, recommends the aluminum ware for the most practical reasons: it doesn't chip or break or peal, and it assures cleanliness and wholesomeness in cooking.

An interesting phase of aluminum equipment is that there is an age-old affinity between food itself and the metal Chemistry has found that there is a small quantity of aluminum in almost all foods, in drinking water and in milk And the same force in nature that puts it there, developed quantities of the metal to be used in modern kitchen equipment.

As a metal for the protection, as well as the preparing of food, it is invaluable The food institute runs through today, Wednesday and Thursday.

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just have to drag yourself along, when you feel tired, sunk—because of that constipation? Then why not find out the real cause of your trouble?

What have you had to eat lately? Just things like meat, bread and potatoes? If that's it, you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If "bulk" is what you lack, your ticket is a dish of crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars"! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CHAPTER VII.

Later in the afternoon Don called her to his office.

"Nancy and I will pick you up in the morning."

And feeling his eyes follow her as she walked away, she thought, "Don't look at me like that, Don! Let me keep this job I need so much. Stay out of my life!"

At the apartment Tod said, "Oh, I'll be okay," when she told him she was going away.

But she did not know as she rode downtown the station between Nancy and Don that Tod had seen lovely Nancy Lawrence for the first time from the apartment window and had thought bitterly, "I can't meet that girl. I can't know her."

* * *

Rain spattered against the train window, Alix, absently turning the pages of a magazine, was uncomfortably conscious that Don was looking at her over a book. Once when their eyes met, he smiled guiltily and Alix turned to Nancy and spoke to her.

She had her first glimpse of Manhattan through a curtain of gently falling spring rain. Kurt was here somewhere on business, was her first thought. They would meet again.

Outside the door of the hotel room she was to share with Nancy, Don said, "I'll meet you in the lobby in half an hour and then Alix and I are going to that conference."

"And I'm going to spend money," Nancy said, "because that's all I ever have to do."

In the room Nancy kicked off her little high-heeled brown slippers, curled up on the bed, and picked up the telephone.

"I'm calling Kurt to tell him we're here. He always stops at the same hotel." And after a moment she was talking gaily into the phone. "Kurt? Hello, darling. I'm so glad you're still here because we are, too. Father and I. And Alix is with us."

Alix thought, "For a second he's going to wonder who I am and then remember that he took me to dinner one night. I'll be that small girl he met at Don's. Just another girl. He won't remember—and I remember everything."

Nancy was saying, "Father calls it a business trip but I think he's kidding. He wants to have fun and a fling. He's taking Alix to a meeting this afternoon. How about tonight, the four of us? Fine! About 8." And added less gaily after a pause, "Mother is fine but she hated to see me leave. Yes, I do lead a double life, don't I, half a life with mother and the other half with father."

That afternoon in a large room in one of New York's tallest buildings Alix's hand moved rapidly over her shorthand pad. The smoke was thick. Important men bickered back and forth over important financial problems. On the way back to the hotel Don said kindly, "I'm sorry. I know it was a hectic afternoon. We'll try to make up for it tonight."

Nancy was trying on the new clothes she had bought that afternoon When Alix came in the hotel room, she picked up a white satin dress from the bed and said, "For you and for tonight. Oh, don't refuse. You must take it! It's a very special night because—because," and met Alix's tired eyes gravely, "you're in love with Kurt, Alix. Yes, I know. And I'm all for it because I'm so fond of you both. Men like white satin. That's what I was thinking when I saw this dress this afternoon."

Slowly Alix pulled off her small black hat. Suddenly her throat felt full. Funny that the working girl and the rich girl should be friends like this. . . .

Nancy's eyes, softly blue, did not waver. But she smiled.

"You don't have to tell me about it now. About you and Kurt, I mean. It's time to get dressed. He'll be here."

He'll be here. . . . And she would be lovely for him. She must be. A special night, Nancy had called it, Nancy who had had many special nights when she, Alix, had had so few. It was getting dark now and soon the streets would be ablaze with flashing lights, and large beautiful rooms would be filled with people pleasure-bent, and the music would begin in hundreds of places. And she and Kurt would be in one of those places—together. . . .

* * *

Forget everything, she thought. Forget the problem of Tod, forget that Tuck hides her illness, that Eddie loves you, that Don makes love to you every time he looks at you. This is your night. People were known to have gambled everything for one night. . . .

Kurt's eyes saw only Alix when with Don and Nancy, she stepped from the elevator into the crowded hotel tobby. Radiant girl, lovely girl, he thought. Would she be Don's next wife?

He was here, Alix was thinking as she smiled up at him. Every other face was blurred and unreal. She was not tired now; the afternoon's strenuous work did not matter. Excitement at the promise of tonight warmed her.

And because she was lovelier than he remembered and because people in the lobby were turning to look at her, Kurt's voice was warmer than he knew when he together here. I'm glad I stayed on."

Nancy said, "Oh, let's go to lots of places and not get home until morning."

An hour later they were dancing on the crowded floor of a hotel roof They had been very gay at dinner and had laughed a good bit. Now Don and Nancy were at the table and she and Kurt were dancing. . . .

He lowered his head so that his lips were close to her hair

"Can't you persuade Don to prolong that meeting? One night of this isn't enough"

"For a country girl's first visit? No, it isn't. . . . Maybe I should have slowed up my shorthand today. . . ."

"It's fun showing you the town." And then less distinctly he said, "It's fun being with a girl who doesn't think she knows all the answers, Alix."

When they were back at the table, Nancy pressed her hand against her forehead.

"I'm really awfully tired," she said. "I think I'll go back to the hotel. I walked miles this afternoon. Will you take me back, Father? Then you can join Kurt and Alix." And hoped fervently that he wouldn't.

But Don said, "I'm pretty tired myself. Will you two excuse us?"

They never knew why Don Lawrence at that moment made one said, "Hello, Alix. It's great to be of the few unselfish gestures of his life. Both Kurt and Nancy thought, "Perhaps there's another girl in New York he wants to see." Alix was touched with gratitude.

When Don and Nancy left, she and Kurt went to many places. Afterward she remembered a series of waiters leading them to secluded corner tables, a series of glittering floor shows, and a galaxy of faces seen in the shadow of dim lights. There was a Russian place where a beautiful Russian girl sang a melancholy song of her homeland, a Spanish place where the passionate music made your pulses stir, and a colorful little place where you were transported into the Vienna of Strauss.

It was not the time to be serious. Time for that tomorrow. Nor was it a time for talk with the music and other voices around. But it was a time for laughter and Alix felt she had never laughed so much. And Kurt's arms seemed to hold her closer, more tenderly as the night went on . . .

He was falling in love with her. He was thinking that as they danced in a small place in Greenwich Village long past midnight. This darling girl, he was thinking, who can lose herself for one night, and laugh and play. This beautiful girl, unconscious of her beauty. Her hand was small and soft and warm in his. Her bright head was against him.

"You're wonderful, Alix."

Se caught her breath but she did not look up. Don't hope. Don't hope too much. It was just the night and the music . . .

"Thank you, Kurt."

* * *

Why didn't he say it? Why didn't he say, "Im falling a little in love with you, Alix. You've grown on me tonight. You've become important to me tonight. You're perfect. We're perfect together." But he wouldn't say it yet. It was so new. Give it time to grow . . . But he was happier than he had been in a long time, realizing it was she who made him happy. . . .

Later they walked across Washington Square.

When she paused, he came closer and gently took her hand and put it to his lips and kissed it. Tears she could not control stung her eyes, seeing the dark head bent over her hand. Tonight had meant something to him! Tonight had brought them closer! Gina Rowland, how could you hurt this man? How could you take his love and then fling it back at him? Men can be terribly hurt. Alix thought. "I'd so much rather be hurt than you."

He looked up over her hand at her. His smile was boyish.

"That's what I think of you." His eyes were serious instantly. "I hope tonight is the beginning of a lot of things for us, Alix. Do you feel the same way I do?"

"Yes, Kurt." And so much more!

He nodded. "Good. Now do you think those little feet will carry you to the corner where we'll look for a taxi to take us some place for breakfast?"

Once, walking beside him to the nearest corner, she glanced back at a certain bench in Washington Square. Park benches must have colorful histories, she thought, and as long as she lived she would remember the one beside which Kurt had kissed her hand. Her heart sang. He cared! Not by what he had said did she know, but by his voice and his touch and the way he looked at her. Perhaps in time she would reach his heart. . . .

In the taxi he put his arm around her and tilted her head so that it rested on his shoulder.

SEEK EXTENSION OF CREDIT PLAN OFFERED BY FHA

Retail Lumber Dealers Point to Need for Improvements in 60 Per Cent of Homes.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Pointing to the deplorable condition of 60 per cent of American homes, as revealed in a recent survey of 8,000,000 dwellings conducted by the Works Progress administration, the National Retail Lumber Dealers association today urged the extension of Title No. I of the National Housing act—the Property Improvement Credit Plan—after its expiration July 1.

The need for this legislation, which enables property owners to borrow up to $10,000 for the renovation and modernization of homes and business establishments, is forcibly demonstrated by the findings of the Government survey, Spencer . D Baldwin, chairman of the association's Legislative committee, declared.

40 Per Cent 'Good.'

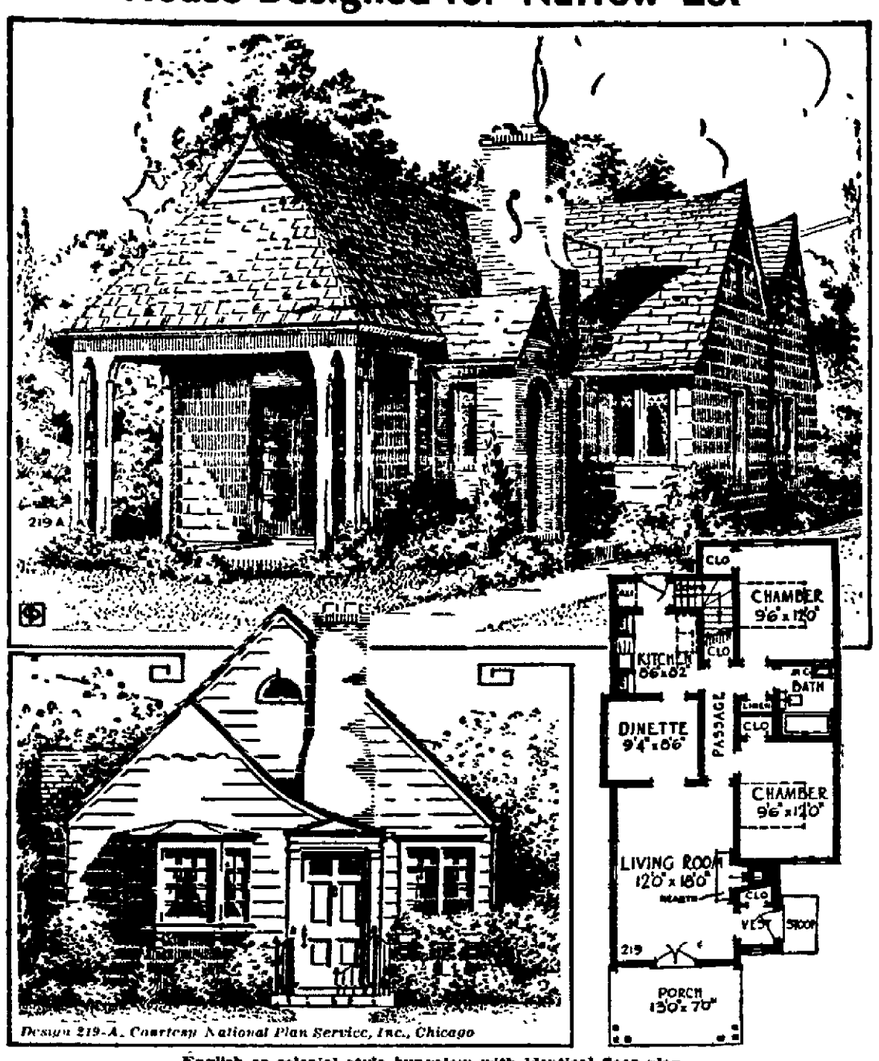
"Only 40 per cent of the houses reported on, representing 203 urban communities, are listed by WPA as in 'good condition,'" Baldwin said. "Sixteen per cent were rated in the WPA report as 'unfit for use.'

"When Title I was in effect originally—from the fall of 1934 through April 1937—more than 560 million dollars worth of property improvements were financed under the plan. It was allowed to expire, however, and was not reinstated as an activity of the Federal Housing administration until February of last year. Since then, approximately 200 million dollars in property improvement work has resulted through private financial institutions lending funds under FHA insurance."

Renewal of the law permitting FHA to insure these loans is considered of such vital importance to members of the National Retail Lumber Dealers association and the 23,000 lumber and building material retailers affiliated through its 28 regional and state associations, that it is being made a part of virtually every convention program at the annual meetings of these groups in all parts of the country during the first quarter of this year.

In stimulating work of this kind through continuation of Title 1. Baldwin asserted, the Government not only is contributing to the improvement of American homes, but also is enabling the expenditure of funds for materials and labor in a field where the most good can be accomplished in relieving unemployment and creating spending power.

House Designed for Narrow Lot



Design 219-A. Courtesy National Plan Service, Inc., Chicago

English or colonial style bungalow with identical floor plan.

(By Central Press)

This English type of bungalow has been designed for a narrow lot, such as is often seen in a city—lots perhaps not more than 30 feet wide.

This type of architecture is also readily adaptable to corner lots. An alternate plan, in colonial style is also shown, with which the same floor plans are used.

In the first plan, shown top, the entrance is on the side, with a porch across the front; in the latter design the bay window in front substitutes for the porch, and the entrance is on the front.

The long living room with fireplace, and opening on to the porch with French doors, is very attractive. Back of it is an unusually commodious dinette, and the kitchen is at the extreme back The other side of the house consists of vestibule containing a clothes closet; two bedrooms, with the bathroom between.

The house contains a total of 19,300 cubic feet.

PLUMBING FOR LOW COST HOME

Quality Fixtures Are Available Through Plan Offered by Federal Government.

With most of the present building activity concentrated in the small home field, manufacturers of plumbing fixtures have been active in developing equipment that will meet the needs of builders of low cost homes, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

More than two-thirds of all homes financed through insured mortgages under the FHA plan had house-and-lot valuations ranging from $3,000 to $7,000 and about half of the borrowers had incomes under $2,500 annually, according to recent government reports.

Thus to the major proportion of the residential market, low cost is vital At the same time, the standards which have been set up by the FHA as well as private lending agencies require materials of high quality.

Thus today residential building is being directed by more effective guide posts than ever before to insure, that the owner gets many years of comfortable living out of the residence constructed for him

A full line of quality plumbing equipment is now available for the small home in which low cost is a primary consideration. In the development of this equipment, the emphasis has been placed on maximum dollar value. Sturdy and efficient, the low cost plumbing fixtures are as practical as they are beautiful.

Under the sponsorship of the National Small Homes Bureau, eight low cost demonstration houses have been built in various cities. Following are the approximate prices at which these houses can be built, the cost of the lot not being included: No. 1—$1,750 to $2,100; No. 2—$2,000 to $2,400; No. 3—$2,300 to $2,650; No. 4—$2,300 to $2,650; No 5—$2,700 to $3,100; No. 6 and 7—$2,800 to $3,400; and No. 8—$2,500 to $2,800.

Available for the builder in these price brackets, are complete sets of plumbing fixtures, modern in design and high in quality. The sets suggested include tub, lavatory, closet, bathroom accessories, sink and laundry equipment.

FOR BACHELORS

A bachelor's apartment combines all details into a style and charm purely masculine in quality. The painted walls are a soft olive green broken by a black fireplace, and the same green pinstripes the raw silk draperies The covering of sofa and club chair is also green but of a deeper tone. Black tables and two side chairs with seats of peach colored leather give striking accents of color to the room. Woodwork and Venetian blinds are painted to match the walls. The rug is also olive green with a darker square in the center. Brass fireplace accessories and lamp bases add a glint of gold.

MUST SUBMIT RENTAL HOUSING PLAN TO LENDING INSTITUTION

Sponsors of large-scale rental housing developments must in the future submit plans and specifications and all other details of proposed projects to a lending institution prior to submission to the FHA of an application for mortgage insurance, the Federal Housing administration announced.

No formal applications for mortgage insurance on projects coming under section 207 of the National Housing act will be accepted for examination unless they are submitted through a financial institution qualified by the FHA to make insured mortgages. The mortgagee, or leander, in such a case will indicate by signing the application its interest in making the loan in the event the FHA will issue a commitment to insure the mortgage used to finance the proposed project.

This change in procedure makes possible the concurrent processing of cases with the lending institution, thereby expediting the operations of the rental housing program.

Submission of applications through the lender and concurrent examination, it was pointed out, afford an opportunity for an exchange of views and adjustment of any differences of opinion which might arise between the FHA and the lender. Further, this procedure fixes in advance the interest rate and initial fees to be charged by the lender, thus establishing firmly the basis on which charges are to be computed and the commitment issued. Quicker service and reduction of expense will grow out of the practice, it was said.

Formerly, applicants often made direct contact with the FHA before consulting a lending institution which could make the loan.

Basement's Not Necessary For Hot Water Heat

A basement is not necessary when a house is heated with mechanically circulated hot water, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries bureau

This fact is particularly significant to the family in moderate circumstances wishes to effect all possible economies in the construction of a low cost house.

Modern hot water heating plants are equipped with a pump which forces the water to the radiators, irrespective of their location above, below, or on a level with the boiler. Thus, in some cases, where it is desirable to do so, boilers are placed in the attic or in a utility room on the second or third floor.

In the typical low cost house, however, the boiler is placed in a special utility room, which also serves as a laundry, or in the garage adjoining the house.

The fact that the water is mechanically circulated not only makes it possible to save money on excavation and foundation costs, but it also effects economies in the heating plant itself. Thus, for instance, smaller pipes and smaller radiators can be used. Whereas a gravity-type hot water plant might require main lines with a diameter of three inches, a plant operating with forced circulation would require pipe only one and one-half inches in diameter.

Further economies may be effected by the use of special fittings for a one-main system. In this type of installation, the hot water to the radiators and the cold water returning to the radiators both flow through the same pipe.

INSPIRES COLOR SCHEME

A color scheme for a living room based on one in a New York hotel, employs lemon yellow and deep green to excellent effect. The walls and ceiling as well as the drum table of modern lines are painted lemon yellow. Two upholstered chairs and the carpet are green. Chintz slip covers on the counch and two other chairs combine both lemon and green in their floral design.

FARM BUREAU TO CONVENE IN CITY THURSDAY

State, District Officers Speak at Annual Meeting; Hear Financial Report.

Richland county farm bureau members will elect two directors and hear talks by state and district farm bureau leaders at their annual meeting Thursday in the First United Brethren church, Park avenue east.

Directors whose terms expire are R. R. Howard, Cass township, and Neil S. Robinson, Madison township. Directors will be chosen for three years. Officers will be elected at a directors' meeting next Monday.

Ohio Secretary Speaks.

Principal speaker at the all-day session will be Murray D. Lincoln, Columbus, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio farm bureau. Others scheduled for talks are A. W. Elliott, district farm bureau insurance manager; Wilbur Foust, Northcentral Ohio co-operative creamery manager; M. H. Myers, president of the farm bureau credit union; H. E. Miller, field man for the county farm bureau, and County Agent George B. Ganyard.

Vance Clever, manager of the county farm bureau, will submit the organization's financial report for last year. H. H. Wolf, president of the county unit, will preside at the sessions. Rev. R. A. Hall of Ontario will give the invocation.

The program will include community singing led by R. R. Howard and numbers by a young peoples' orchestra and an all-county chorus.

The morning session will open at 10:30 a. m. and the afternoon meeting at 1 p. m. Dinner will be served at the church.

TALK TO VETS

State Officers of D. A. V. to Address Meeting Tomorrow.

George R. Fout of Cleveland, department commander of Disabled American Veterans of the World War, will address a combined meeting of Richland, Crawford and Ashland county veterans and their families at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday at Memorial hall.

Others who will speak are George F. Farling of Cleveland, national rehabilitation service and employment officer, and Albert L. Daniels of Columbus, department adjutant.

Two meetings, one for the women and one for veterans, will be held. The former will meet in the Spanish-American veterans quarters on the main floor where they will be instructed in auxiliary activities and will be informed on the Forget-me-not fund raising project. The vets meet in the Foreign Wars vets' quarters in the basement.

The meeting will be open to all World war veterans, J. L. Graves, commander of the Mansfield chapter, said.

DOUBLE ERROR

St. Louis Man Shoots Neighbor He Mistook For Burglar.

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—A case of mistaken identity put Paul Bush, 24, in the hospital.

Bush mistook the house of his neighbor John Quagliata, for his own and attempted to enter.

Quagliata, 60, mistook his neighbor for a burglar and shot three times through the door, wounding Bush in the leg.

GAS, SOUR STOMACH?

IF you are troubled with gas, heartburn or sour stomach, try a tonic that assists in improving digestion of food. A tonic that tends to increase the flow of gastric juice and thus aid in improving digestion of food is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It stimulates the appetite, too. Mrs. Mattie Bey, 217 Summer St., Toledo, Ohio, says: "I would suffer from gas and sour stomach after eating, and I lost weight and strength. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and my appetite increased and I felt fine." Buy it in liquid or tablets at your drug store today. See how much more vigorous you feel after using this tonic.

Amateurs to Strut In 'Jam Fest' at Majestic Friday

A series of amateur "jam fests," for the purpose of fostering home talent, will be opened at the Majestic theater Friday night.

For a half hour on Friday and Saturday evenings of each week, the Majestic stage will be given over to tap dancers, accordion players, singers and entertainers of all kinds, according to Wayne Williams, manager.

Cash prizes totaling $10 will be awarded for the best acts, chosen by the audience. First prize will be $5, second $3, and third prize $2.

The applause of the audience will decide the winners. Auditions will be given every Wednesday night after the regular show at the theater and every act must be heard before it will be accepted for presentation, Williams said. Registrations may be made at the theater.

U. S. TO BUY 10,000 ACRES OF WASTELAND IN EROSION FIGHT

With the approval today of a federal land utilization project in the Muskingum Conservancy district, the way was opened for the purchase of 10,000 acres of submarginal land in Richland, Ashland, Holmes and Knox counties to be reseeded and reforested in a flood-prevention measure.

An appropriation of $75,000 has been made by the federal government to purchase land this year in the four-county area which will be known as the Mohican district.

D. R. Martindill has been named manager of the district to direct reseeding of eroded slopes and reseeding of wasteland. He will have headquarters at Ashland.

News dispatches from Washington said the government plans to help farmers shift land from cash-crop cultivation to pasture, protecting the sloping fields from erosion by grass cover. The purchased land will be leased to farmers for pasture.

The project was described as an important link in the extensive Muskingum flood control program and of special value in preventing the collection of silt in the Pleasantville reservoir, created by one of the district's 14 dams.

The project was set up on a long-term basis and it was expected that additional acres of wasteland will be purchased each year to be turned into pasture and forest land under the government conservation plan.

ANOTHER YEAR OF STARDOM

-AT GASCO FOOD INSTITUTES AND IN OVER 1,000,000 HOMES

GASCO 1939 FOOD INSTITUTE

Year after year the gas refrigerator maintains its leadership. Year after year its exclusive all-star features outshine all other refrigerators. And year after year, in well over 1,000,000 homes, gas refrigeration continues to operate silently — without moving parts in its freezing system to wear out or cause trouble — at a cost that sets the pace for economy. Such is the refrigeration value you get in a Servel Electrolux. And it is a value that continues to pay dividends for years and years to come.

See the famous gas refrigerator in action at the Gasco Food Institute. Learn more about its advance method of operation which has brought permanent refrigeration satisfaction to so many homes. Then, find out at The Gas Company how you can install a new Servel Electrolux in your home and pay for it out of the saving it will make for you.
